PUPIL STRIKES CONTINUE

UNDER ARREST — Segregationist John Kasper (wide hat) attempts to arrange bail for persons jailed in Nashville's integration disorders. Since this picture was taken, Kasper himself was arrested and locked up.

Court Order Sought To Integrate School

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — Federal and city officials worked together today in an effort to obtain an injunction as their weapon against interference with first grade integration in Nashville schools.

It was just such a federal court injunction that finally put ra ial integration into effect at Clinton, Tenn., last year.

U.S. Dist. Atty. Fred Elledge Jr. and Mayor Ben West were seeking government aid in putting down the violence that has marked the first three days of integrated attendance and which was climaxed by the dynamiting of one integrated school.

Federal Judge William Miller was to be asked to grant the injunction today, West said. The mayor said he also will ask federal authorities to revoke bond which segregationist John Kasper has posted on his appealed convictions in connection with the Clinton, Tenn., disorders last year.

Locked up in Jail

Kasper was locked away in the city workhouse. But about 200 segregationists met on private property outside the city Wednesday night. The Rev. John Mecurio, who presided, asked the crowd to "show your feeling not only with words but by digging down and giving to defend this brave man."

Kasper was given a workhouse term by City Judge Andrew Doyle Wednesday on four charges in connection with his crowd-baiting. The term was imposed when Kasper was unable to pay a $200 fine.

Kasper also is charged by Davidson County with inciting riots.

The county grand jury was investigating the entire situation today and courthouse sources said a report might be issued Friday.

Amid these developments the city Board of Education planned a meeting tonight to discuss problems arising from the city's first try at integration and to draw some plan for resuming classes at Hattie Cotton school, which was gutted by a dynamite blast early Tuesday.

Receives Phone Calls

Officers at the workhouse reported Kasper received several anonymous long - distance calls Wednesday night but was not permitted to answer them. One caller inquired what it would cost to free the 27-year-old New Jersey native, police said.

The injunction plan took place amid these developments on the integration scene:

Ike and Faubus Plan Meeting On Saturday

BULLETIN

NEWPORT, R. I. (UP) — The White House announced today that President Eisenhower and Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas will meet here at the Newport Naval Base Saturday morning.

NEWPORT, R.I. (UP) — The White House said emphatically today it did not consider Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus's request for a meeting with President Eisenhower an indication that the governor is ready to give up his fight against immediate school integration in Little Rock.

Eisenhower, in answer to a wire from Faubus Wednesday, suggested that the governor meet him here Friday afternoon or Saturday morning for a face-to-face discussion of the Arkansas school situation.

The President and his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, were outspokenly angry over what Hagerty described as "radio and television comments" on the governor's request.

"I have heard White House aides quoted on such things as 'throwing in the sponge' and other junk," Hagerty said.

"We have definitely refrained from such remarks and any such reports are completely untrue."

The courthouse office in Greensburg will accept registrations until 9 p. m. tomorrow, Saturday and Monday. Monday is the last day to register to be eligible to vote in the general election.

Walkout Meeting On Today

Representatives of Pittsburgh Steel Co. and Pittsburgh Steel Local 1229, United Steelworkers (AFL-CIO), were scheduled to meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon to discuss the suspensions handed out by the company to 13 men who touched off a wildcat strike in the firm's blooming mill department last Thursday.

The five-day walkout ended Tuesday night after nearly 400 strikers in the blooming mill voted to go back to their jobs when the company agreed to grant hearings to the 13 suspended men.

Anthony Ortolona, Local 1229 president, who will represent the suspended men at today's hearing, said he will ask that all 13 men be reinstated immediately.

'Contract Violation'

The men were suspended, according to a company official, for "instigating and participating in a strike" in violation of the three-year contract the company signed with the union last year.

The men walked off their jobs on the 4 to 12 p.m. shift last Thursday in protest to reassignment of jobs in the blooming mill's billet yard section. The strike idled over 400 workers for five days.

Carl A. Breuer, vice president operations, was to represent the company at today's hearings.

The company announced that the blooming mill would be back to normal operations at 4 p.m. today.

P&LE Has Plans Of Own About City Planning

The Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad has some plans of its own about the future development of the downtown section of Monessen, City planners learned this week.

The plans, furthermore, are at considerable variance with those being developed as a part of the comprehensive community plan for Monessen, it was learned.

Industrial development and real estate specialists of the railroad met in Pittsburgh Tuesday with representatives of the City Planning Commission following a meeting last week in Monessen among the railroad management and city officials.

The City's master plan proposes that railroad yards in the central business district would eventually become commercial space and that new rail freight facilities be provided in the course of redevelopment of the eastern end of Monessen.

Thomas F. Preston, Planning Commission member who attended the conference, said that no specific agreements were reached Tuesday but that both sides will continue their efforts to develop a plan that can be agreed upon.

P&LE Income Up

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad today reported an estimated net income for August of $850,557, or 98 cents per share, as compared to $403,553, or 47 cents per share, for the same month last year.

Pro-Soviet Syrian Military Clique Meeting in Cairo

By UNITED PRESS

Leaders of the pro-Soviet Syrian military clique conferred in Cairo today on what semi-official reports described as the "coordination of military plans" in the event of any attack on Syria.

Syrian army chief of staff Maj. Gen. Afif Bizri and Lt. Col. Abdel Hamid Serraj, military intelligence chief, flew in from Damascus Wednesday night. A Cairo dispatch said their arrival came as a surprise.

Bizri and Serraj are generally regarded as the two prime movers in Syria's swing into the Soviet orbit.

Hold Consultations

Shortly after their arrival, they went into consultations with minister of war Maj. Gen. Abdul Hakim Amer, commander-in-chief of the joint Syrian-Egyptian forces under the defense pact signed two years ago.

Later they met with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

The semi-official Mideast News Agency said the Egyptian and Syrian military leaders discussed "coordination of Egypt's and Syria's military plans." They also made an "examination of the general military situation," it added.

Some Western sources speculated that Bizri and Serraj went to Cairo to find out just how much support they could depend on from Egypt in the event of a military showdown.

Praises Gromyko

Earlier in the day, Syrian Premier Sabri Assali praised Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's "hands-off-Syria" warning to the United States as a "great deed." He said the Soviet position as laid down by Gromyko in Moscow was an "honorable pro-Arab stand."

Other Syrian politicians and the press also lauded Gromyko.

In Jerusalem, an Israeli foreign minister spokesman shrugged off Gromyko's attack on Israel as a "pawn" of the United States as more propaganda.

He said it was aimed at winning sympathy of Arab nationalists who are united in their hatred of Israel.

Local Woman Takes Overdose Of Aspirin Pills

Mrs. Dolores Toney, 25, of Park Manor, is in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital today in "good" condition after taking an overdose of aspirins while sitting in a drug store in the Park Plan last night, police reported today.

According to reports, the woman was sitting in a booth in the Central Pharmacy at the Park Plan shopping center when a girl clerk noticed her crying. The clerk summoned Joseph Weiss, owner.

Weiss said he surmised immediately what had happened and tried to give Mrs. Toney an antidote. When she refused Weiss called police.

Policemen John Bender and Peter Belavich were taking the woman to the hospital when they spotted a local physician, Dr. O. J. Kreger. The physician gave her an antidote and ordered her to the hospital.

Weiss said Mrs. Toney consumed 61 pills from a 100-pill bottle.

She refused to give any reasons for her actions.

State to Open Bids Today on Donner Paving

Mayor Hugo J. Parente yesterday afternoon said he had been informed that the state Highways Department planned to open bids today for materials to be used in the complete resurfacing of Donner Ave.

Norbert G. Bell, highways district engineer, told Parente he believes work on the project may start next month.

The state took over the maintenance of Donner Ave. earlier this year.

Director of Streets David Victoria said the streets department is raising manhole covers on Donner Ave. in preparation for the resurfacing.

The mayor also said that Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka intends to have a "thru lane" traffic line painted on the north side of Donner Ave. from Fourth to Sixth streets once the street is resurfaced. No parking or stopping will be permitted in the "thru lane", Kuvinka stated.

Council Refuses To Take Stand On Fluoridation

Members of City Council yesterday refused to state individually if they were for or against water fluoridation and voted to let the public decide on the issue in a referendum in the Nov. 5 general election.

On a motion made by John Kotch, Jr., and seconded by David Canova, Council voted unanimously to put the issue to a public vote in the Nov. 5 election.

The decision, which came after much discussion among members, was made after Mrs. John McGovern, chairman of the Water Fluoridation Committee in Monessen, requested Council to go on record as favoring fluoridation.

This the Council refused to do and, instead, passed the issue on to the public.

Mayor Hugo J. Parente told Mrs. McGovern he couldn't voice a "yes or no" on the issue "because I don't know enough about fluoridation." Councilmen David Victoria, John Molnar, Kotch and Canova expressed themselves the same.

Parente said he didn't want to "tell people what kind of water to drink. I think it better for the public to decide if they want fluoride in their water."

Mrs. McGovern told Council

Architect Looks Over Building At Brownsville

Half Return At Centerville

CENTERVILLE, Pa. (UP) — About half the striking students at Centerville High School returned to classes today—some of them being marched into the building by stern-eyed parents.

But the remainder of the 798 students refused a plea to return by Supervising Principal Glenn Harshman and elected to continue their walkout which began Wednesday in protest to a curtailed lunch hour.

One of the striking students declared the 20-minute lunch period just wasn't enough time to eat.

"Besides by the time we have assembly, it cuts it down to only 10 minutes that we have to eat," he said.

But the Centerville Board of Education, which held an emergency meeting Wednesday night, refused to budge from its stand that the students have sufficient time to eat.

Official Insistent

"They can stay away as long as they want," an official said, "but that lunch hour is going to remain the same."

Officials said the usual half-hour lunch period was cut in an effort to prevent the students from "loafing around" outdoors during the eating period.

About 40 parents accompanied their children to school this morning to make sure they returned to class.

Meanwhile, Joseph Mazurek, president of the school board at nearby Redstone, said the Allison No. 1 school at Brier Hill "definitely will not" reopen. Mazurek's home was picketed Wednesday night by irate parents objecting to the closing of the school in August.

"The building is unfit for use and it's going to remain closed," Mazurek said.

Bandit Holds Up Snack Bar

An armed bandit held up the Dipsy Doodle snack bar on Route 31 near Ginger Hill early this morning and escaped with $46 in cash, state police reported.

Police said the man entered the place about 1:15 a. m., pointed a gun at waitress Bertha Myers, of R. D. 2, Finleyville, and told her it was a "stick-up."

He held the waitress at bay while he ransacked the cash register.

He fled on foot down the highway and disappeared.

Paving Contract

The Westmoreland Paving Co., of Monessen and Greensburg, has been awarded a contract for $108,000 to pave eight miles of streets at State College, Pa., it was learned today.

Parents Attend Special Meeting

The Brownsville School Board last night decided to have an architect look over the senior high school building before resuming classes next Monday.

The action came at a special meeting which was called to discuss a "strike" of 800 high school students.

The Brownsville pupils, many of them with the approval of their parents, refused to enter the school building on Tuesday after two of their classmates were injured by falling plaster the day before.

More than 50 parents attended last night's meeting. They were informed that the building will be reopened only if Architect T. R. Fulton, Uniontown, describes it as safe. Fulton will also inspect all other buildings in the district.

Building Delayed

The state Department of Public Instruction recently earmarked the 50 year old building for replacement. However construction of a new high school has been delayed by disagreement in jointure discussions between Brownsville and Redstone school districts.

Prior to last night's meeting, the Brownsville Ministerial Association passed a resolution "deploring the apparent neglect which has resulted in the injury of two students and the endangering of lives of others in our public schools."

At the same time, the ministers added:

"While we sympathize with the purpose of the high school students in their protest, we deplore the use of a strike as a means of accomplishing any objective."

All Brownsville schools, with the exception of the high school, have been conducting classes as usual this week.

Practice Driving Is Prohibited On Marion Ave.

Effective today, no practice driving will be permitted on Marion Ave., Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka announced.

The chief told Council yesterday he had received numerous complaints from Marion Ave. residents about persons using the street for practice driving. He said even driver training schools from Monessen and elswhere had been using the thoroughfare.

He suggested to Council that an ideal location for practice driving would be at the parking lot in the rear of the Vocational School. The property belongs to the Monessen School District.

Councilman David Victoria said that since the school district sponsors a driver training course, he believes "it is the district's responsibility to provide for a training area and not the City."

Council approved Victoria's reasoning and will suggest it in a letter to the district.

Redevelopment Authority to Ask $37,000 for Planning

The Monessen Redevelopment Authority last night agreed to ask the federal government for $37,000 to cover surveying and planning costs in connection with the proposed redevelopment of 27 acres in the extreme northeastern section of the city.

The request for funds will be submitted to the federal Housing and Home Finance Agency. The Authority is hoping for an early approval of the grant.

In anticipation of the federal money, the Authority created two staff positions last night: executive director and secretary to the director.

The director will be paid a minimum of $6500 and a maximum of $7500 per year. The secretary will receive a minimum of $3,000 and a maximum of $4,000.

Neither position will be filled until the federal money arrives.

Two members of the Authority, Charles Throop and Kenneth Mahan, were appointed by Chairman A. Edward Wilen to recommend persons for the two staff positions at the next meeting of the Authority.

On a recommendation by Throop, the Authority voted unanimously to title the proposed project "Monessen Eastgate."

Dan Moore, a consultant from the Community Planning Services, Inc., Pittsburgh, was present at the meeting and estimated that the project will require "about three years."

"However it is extremely difficult to guess on these matters," Moore said. "The first year will be devoted mostly to detailed planning, then will follow the acquisition of property and the actual razing of old buildings."

Wilen added that the Authority has adopted no time schedule and indicated that it will probably be a year and a half before any actual new construction begins.

Wilen offered a resume of the Authority's work during last night's meeting at the City Building, reporting that the state has already promised to contribute $350,000 toward the project.

The Eastgate program will cost an estimated $2,100,000. It is hoped that the federal government will supply two-thirds of the funds, with the city and state sharing the remaining third.

The 27 acre area site to be redeveloped is predominantly residential with a mixture of commercial and industrial establishments. Most of the existing structures are sub-standard, according to the Authority.

Some of the existing commercial and industrial structures in the

Library Bond Issue Gets Stieska Support

A proposal to build a new public library in Monessen with a $200,000 bond issue today had the active support of the city's two candidates for mayor.

Mayor Hugo J. Parente, Democratic candidate to succeed himself, went strongly on record for the proposal yesterday when City Council voted to put the bond issue before the voters at the Nov 5 election.

Today, John R. Stieska, the Republican nominee, backed the program without reservation.

Parente defeated Stieska for the Democratic nomination last May, but Stieska won the Republican nomination in a write-in contest with the Mayor.

However, Parente is also claiming the GOP nomination in a legal controversy which will go before the State Supreme Court Sept. 30.

In a statement on the library proposal, Stieska said "it behooves every parent who has the welfare of his child at heart to aid in the promotion of this library building project and to encourage his friends to do so."

Stieska said he sees "no financial difficulty" as far as the city's indebtedness is concerned "inasmuch as our bonded indebtedness is but a small fraction of the legal limit for borrowing."

"I therefore want to go on record as wholeheartedly supporting this program," Stieska said. "I shall vote 'yes' for the bond issue and ask my friends to do likewise."

Following is the full text of the statement:

"It is my sincere conviction that the responsibility for providing and maintaining a public library should be assumed by the municipality as a necessary public service just as important as garbage collection, etc. This I believe is in conform-

Fayette City Burgess Meets French President

Fayette City Burgess Howard Opfar today met with Rene Coty, president of France, and both recalled old World War I days.

Opfar is one of 20 American mayors and burgesses who are visiting France as the guests of the French government.

They represent U. S. towns and cities named for the Marquis de Lafayette and they are taking part in the anniversary celebration of the birth of the French general who was an American hero in the Revolutionary war.

Coty recalled that the first American soldier he met during World War I informed him:

"Stay in the shelters, it's our turn now."

Opfar, who served in France during the same war, was a member of the American delegation which placed a wreath on the tomb of Coty's wife before today's meeting.

Teamster Survey Reports Hoffa with Big Lead

Poll Indicates Hoffa Has Twice As Many Votes

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rivals of Teamster chieftain James R. Hoffa in the race for Teamsters Union president have only scattered backing from union convention delegates, a United Press survey showed today.

A poll of a dozen major centers of Teamster strength indicated that Hoffa, tough-talking Midwest vice president of the union, has more than twice as many delegate votes lined up than all three of his rivals together.

Of the 707 delegates included in the poll, 492 lined up for Hoffa, 53 were pledged to one of his opponents and 162 were undecided. A total of 1,924 will be eligible to vote for president at the convention. A total of 963 are needed to elect.

The figures contrast sharply with the claim by one candidate, Thomas J. Haggerty of Chicago, who has said that he will have 700 sure votes when the convention opens Sept. 30 in Miami Beach.

Three Contend With Hoffa

Haggerty, secretary - treasurer of a Chicago milk wagon drivers local; Rep. John F. Shelly (D.) and Teamsters Vice President Thomas L. Hickey of New York are contending with Hoffa for the $50,000-a-year post now held by retiring President Dave Beck.

The three Hoffa rivals have hinted that they will form a coalition and unite behind one anti-Hoffa candidate if necessary to insure Hoffa's defeat.

The Western Conference of Teamsters, meeting in Seattle, Tuesday refused to endorse any of the four candidates. Labor sources believed this would help Hoffa's opponents nail down more delegates.

The survey by United Press showed the Ohio Joint Council, with 131 delegates, would cast 124 votes for Hoffa. The St. Louis Joint Council said it expected all 60 of its delegates to vote for Hoffa.

In Chicago, Haggerty's hometown, the head of the district council said Hoffa should "easily receive 80 per cent" of the council's 186 votes.

Big Teamsters' organizations in New York and Los Angeles refused to provide a breakdown on their delegates' choices. Hickey, a New Yorker, has claimed he has 350 votes lined up already.

The Philadelphia Joint Council—representing 81,000 members in three states—voted to cast its 102 votes for Hoffa. But Council President John B. Jackhus, an outspoken foe of labor racketeers, said the decision may not be binding on the delegates.

Girard Integration Decision Appealed

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — A financier's desire to help fatherless boys more than 100 years ago created an integration controversy that appeared today to be headed for the U.S. Supreme Court.

The controversy centers around the attempt of two Philadelphia Negro boys to gain admittance to Girard College. Girard College is a free boarding school offering a nine-year course of elementary and preparatory or trade school levels to 1,300 fatherless white boys.

The 110-year-old school is supported entirely by proceeds from the estate of Stephen Girard, an early American financier. Girard, who helped finance this country during the War of 1812, left an estate of six million dollars which now is estimated worth more than 100 million dollars.

Adheres To Will

Girard stipulated in his will that the school be limited to "poor, white, male orphans" — and the will defines an orphan as any fatherless child. That phrase may go down in the history of legal jurisprudence.

Since 1847, the school has adhered strictly to the terms of the will.

The present test of the will—there have been at least two previous tests to reach the U.S. Supreme Court—began in 1955 when the mothers of Robert Felder and William Ashe Foust applied for their admission despite the fact they were Negroes.

The school denied them admission and was upheld by the Philadelphia Board of City Trusts, the trustee of the estate; Philadelphia Orphans Court, and the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. The city of Philadelphia joined in the fight for the admission of the two boys and the case went before the nation's highest court.

The U.S. Supreme Court reversed the decisions last April 29. It held that the Board of City Trusts is an agency of the state of Pennsylvania and, as such, cannot legally enforce discrimination under the 14th Amendment of the Constitution. The case was returned to Pennsylvania for further action consistent with the high court's opinion.

Wednesday, the Philadelphia Orphans Court again denied the admission of the Negro boys and removed the Board of City Trusts as trustee of the Girard estate. The six judges of the court said a new trustee, "which can lawfully administer the trust in the manner prescribed by the testator," will be appointed by the court within six months.

Raymond Pace Alexander, Negro city councilman and attorney for the two boys, immediately denounced the new ruling and said he would appeal it as high as the U.S. Supreme Court again if necessary.

Fairless Claims Executives Just 'Hired Managers'

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UP)—The man who formerly headed the U.S. Steel Corp. said Wednesday that "while candidates for sainthood are not in generous supply in the business community, the proportion of rascals is no greater than that found among other groups of people."

Benjamin F. Fairless, formerly chairman of the biggest steel company in the world and now president of the Iron and Steel Institute, said when a man joins a corporation, "he is not forced to check the golden rule at the door."

"In fact, if his conduct is contary to that rule, he is much more likely to be barred at the entrance."

Fairless addressed the opening general session of the 55th annual meeting of the national Petroleum Assn. attended by 1,200 oilmen.

Fairless said that for the most part, corporations no longer are run for the benefit of single minded interests, but executives instead are "hired professional managers" who represent tens of thousands of stockholders.

He said the modern corporation lives in a goldfish bowl in which there has to be "a clear glass at all times" and noted that stockholders are always ready to exercise their right to impose a correction on any management policies they disapprove.

Two Are Paroled

Two Duquesne men, Donald Bixler, 21, and Robert Schmeltz, 18, were paroled yesterday by Judge George T. Cummins of Washington County Court after serving since February 12 on a one-year sentence for burglarizing a Monongahela restaurant.

Eight Indicted For 'Poison Pen' Political Libel

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (UP)—Eight New Castle residents were indicted by a Lawrence County grand jury Wednesday night in the so called "poison pen" political literature case.

The grand jury also said Dist. Atty. Perry L. Reeher should be cited for conspiracy in the alleged plot. However, Judge Burton Laub, Erie County, rejected a motion by deputy state Atty. Gen. Frank J. Lawley Jr. to order immediate indictments against Reeher and an associate, Andrew Marmo.

This rejection means if the state wants to pursue charges against Reeher and Marmo, an information will have to be filed and placed for consideration before the October grand jury.

The September jury, after three days of testimony, charged Reeher and Marmo knew of a plan to distribute phamplets attacking, among others Howard Lyon, Reeher's opponent for Republican nomination.

In its presentment the jury also asked state police to investigate the possibility that Russell E. McConahy, county detective chief in Reeher's office, lied under oath during an hour and a half session with the jury Wednesday.

Indicted by the grand jury were Frank Acquaviva, Samuel F. Ascione, Frank Natale, Edward Tucker, Ben Ciccone, Patsy Dando, Adolph DiGennaro and Sally Saunders.

Reeher was superseded as county prosecutor last week by state Atty. Gen. Thomas McBride, who charged Reeher had not acted fast enough in bringing the accused to trial.

Local Boy into Double Trouble

John Mazur, 27, of 515 Third St., Monessen, got into double trouble with Monessen police while driving a car this morning about 2:15.

Mazur was traveling on Schoonmaker Ave. between 11th and 12th streets when he was stopped and arrested for driving recklessly by Patrolman Joseph Ezzo.

Ezzo also discovered that Mazur was driving a car while his driver's license was under suspension.

ANGRY BLOODBATH WORDS

Lodge hurls a warning to the Kremlin to stop tramping on Hungary or face new uprisings by "bitter and hostile" satellite peoples.

Sobolev charges the U. S. is "raising a hullabaloo about Hungary" to "divert attention from aggressive acts of the United States . . ."

Burma, Ceylon on Hungary Resolution

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Burma and Ceylon were expected to give today the first indication of the stand of the Asian "neutralists" toward the 37-nation demand for a new U.N. condemnation of Russia's intervention and suppression in Hungary.

The two nations were among 11 scheduled to address the special U.N. General Assembly meeting on Hungary today.

Western delegates hopefully predicted that 60 of the 81 members would approve the resolution sponsored by the United States, Britain and 35 other nations. But the size of the vote will depend upon the attitude of the 28-nation Afro-Asian group.

Burma was expected to favor the resolution, but Ceylon's position was clouded. Ceylon's Ambassador R. S. S. Gunewardene was a member of the five-nation committee which unanimously returned the 150,000-word report on the Hungarian revolution considered the most scathing indictment of Russia ever published in the U.N.

However, the Colombo regime of Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike recently played host to a Hungarian mission and reported that the entire Hungarian story had not been told. Bandaranaike left Ceylon's attitude up in the air.

As a result, Gunewardene was considered to be in a delicate position. It was possible he might postpone his speech while seeking to persuade his government to change its stand against an unequivocal condemnation of Russia.

Liquor Board Powerless to Deny Transfer

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Liquor Control Board said today a recent state Supreme Court decision left the board powerless to deny transfer of a restaurant liquor license in Westmoreland County.

The board "was left with no discretion" on the question of the application to transfer the license held by the Silver Star Tavern in North Huntingdon Township, Westmoreland County, to Oz's Pizza Palace, 926 Lincoln Highway West in the same township.

Board Chairman Patrick E. Kerwin pointed out that the court decision gives the agency discretion over transfers only when the new premises are within 300 feet of a church, hospital or school or if the premises are used mainly for the sale of fuel oil or gasoline.

He said a hearing disclosed protests against the transfer were based on the premise that it would constitute a traffic hazard, depreciate property values and attract minors.

"The board, found it had no discretion under the court decision to consider the objections and felt constrained to grant the transfer," Kerwin said.

Man Killed When Struck by Auto

PITTSBURGH (UP)— David Lyons, 45, Pontiac, Mich., was injured fatally Wednesday night when struck by a car here.

He died about three hours after the accident in South Side Hospital.

Police identified the driver of the car as Mrs. Betty Plaeska, Pittsburgh.

area will probably be incorporated into the proposed plan.

About 115 families reside in the area. The Authority made it clear last night that it intends to cooperate "in every way possible in relocating these people."

Last night's meeting was open to the public as will be all future meetings.

"We want opinion and advice as we proceed in our redevelopment," said Wilen.

Stephen Sinchak, a city real estate man, took advantage of Wilen's offer and addressed the meeting.

"I favor a good redevelopment with a minimum of cost," Sinchak said. "I wonder why the west end wasn't also included to make this one large project."

It was explained by the Authority that the cost factor prompted the selection of one area of the city for the first redevelopment project.

"The east end appeared to offer the greatest potential for redevelopment," Moore explained.

Present at last night's meeting were all members of the Authority: Wilen, chairman; Throop, vice-chairman; Mahan, secretary; Roderick Wiseman, treasurer, and James Destefano, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Also present were Moore, a consultant, and Bernard Shire, solicitor for the Authority.

tering the all-white school which was ordered integrated. Two of six Negroes who were unable to get into another Little Rock high school said they would enroll for the fall term at an all - Negro school. The other four were expected to follow suit.

Washington — Administration sources used the term "Faubus fallout" to describe racial disturbances in the South. They said his stand in Little Rock against integration had encouraged segregationists elsewhere.

Birmingham — Five Negro youths, including two girls, admitted stoning passing cars carrying whites Wednesday and were held for court action. A 15-year-old white girl who claimed she was threatened by three Negroes admitted the story was a hoax.

Alexandria, Va. — Federal Judge Albert V. Bryan prepared to rule whether Negroes must be integrated immediately into public schools in Washington suburbs of northern Virginia.

Charlotte, N.C. — Parents of a Negro girl said they could not decide whether to send her back to classes in an integrated school because the window of the car in which she left Wednesday was shattered by segregationists.

There was a marked decrease in segregationist activity around the integrated Nashville schools Wednesday, but school attendance was down more than one-half.

ity with the modern trend of thinking by officials of some of our most progressive cities.

"The Library in addition to the book-lending service gives informational service to both young and old and is therefore as advantage to the whole community both from a useful and cultural standpoint.

"Indirectly contributing to the fight against juvenile delinquency, it behooves every parent who has the welfare of his child at heart to aid in the promotion of this library building project and to encourage his friends to do so.

"The City officials can be a great influence in the progress of Monessen from a cultural standpoint by encouraging this project. I could not conscientiously object to this program for a bigger and better library because I feel that such a program will make better boys and girls and encourage them to thinking along cultural lines. Inasmuch as our bonded indebtedness is but a small fraction of the legal limit for borrowing, no financial difficulty is involved.

"I therefore want to go on record as wholeheartedly supporting this program. I shall vote 'yes' for the bond issue and ask my friends to do likewise.

"Let me repeat that I cannot object to this bond issue either from a personal or political viewpoint because of the many cultural advantages inherent."

that practically every major health and medical agency has said that "fluoridation is one of the greatest public health measures of our time. Numerous studies have demonstrated a large decrease in the amount of dental decay associated with the presence of fluoride occurring naturally in drinking water."

Council maintained it didn't "know enough about the issue" and decided on the referendum.

Holdup Suspect Killed

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Cop-Hater John A. (Sonny) McConn, 22, made good his promise Wednesday that he would not be captured alive.

McConn, wanted for questioning in a $47,000 bank holdup, was shot and killed as he tried to run down a Pittsburgh policeman.

Detective Robert Diven fired a single shot through the driver's window which struck the hoodlum under the arm pit and entered his heart.

Police said the fugitive, who had been the object of a nationwide FBI search, was reaching for a loaded pistol on the floor of his stolen car as he surged towards the officer.

"You got me in the heart, Diven," he begrudged the detective with his last breath. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Allegheny General Hospital.

McConn, who started his crime career in his early teens, was wanted in connection with the armed holdup last January at the Hays branch of the Peoples First National Bank and Trust Co. Three other suspects have been indicted and are awaiting trial.

Diver was cruising in the back seat of a police car when he spotted McConn on foot.

He took up the chase and McConn raced for safety in a maze of alleyways on the city's North Side. Twice, during a six block chase, Diven fired his revolver and missed.

"I was slowed up by a little mutt that kept yapping and nipping at my legs," he explained later.

The detective lost McConn for a moment but found him again trying to start a stolen car. He shouted, "stop McConn, I've got you."

McConn answered with the racing motor, and Diven replied with the fatal gun blast.

Freedom Fighters Are Left Stateless

WASHINGTON (UP) — Signing of a "hardship" immigration bill has left 28,000 refugee Hungarian freedom fighters still men and women without a country.

Congress failed to include a provision in the bill recommended by President Eisenhower to give the Hungarians resident status so they could apply for citizenship. The 28,000 were admitted to the country last year as parolees. They are stateless unless they return to Hungary.

Eisenhower, who signed the bill at his Newport, R.I., vacation headquarters Wednesday, said he regretted the omission by Congress. However, he said the new law will make some improvements in present practices of admitting aliens.

The State Department moved immediately to grant entry visas at Toronto, Canada, today to three European women who become eligible under the new law for admittance because they have relatives here.

Eisenhower also found particularly disappointing the law's failure to revise the immigration quota system, as well as its failure to lay down future policy for admission of refugees.

But Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.), sponsor of the bill, said it took care of those in emergency situations and removed all "legitimate basis for complaint" about U.S. immigration policy. He said any greater flow of immigrants might aggravate over-population problems in some U.S. areas.

Walter also said it would have been "inadvisable" for Congress to have granted permanent status to the Hungarian refugees. He said more than 100 of them had been found to be threats to U.S. security and sent home

Phone Strike Threat Monday

District Service to Continue

NEW YORK (UP) — Federal mediators tried today to head off a threatened nationwide strike Monday of 55,000 telephone workers.

Two mediators from the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service formally entered the deadlocked negotiations between the Communication Workers of America and the Western Electric Co. Until today, the mediators had been on a standby basis.

Both union and company spokesmen expressed hope a settlement could be reached before the Monday strike deadline, set Wednesday by the union. But highly informed sources in Washington said they doubted that the walkout could be averted.

CWA President Joseph A. Beirne said a strike would affect long-distance service in 45 states and the District of Columbia. Only Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire would not be affected if picket lines were set up.

'Quickie' Strikes

A strike would have little immediate effect on local calls since 85 per cent of such service is provided by automatic dial equipment.

(A spokesman for Belle Telephone Co. today predicted no interruption in district telephone service even if a strike occurs on Monday as threatened.

(The spokesman said that dial service will operate as usual while manual switchboards—such as those in Belle Vernon and Donora—will probably be staffed by supervisory personnel.)

Unauthorized "quickie" strikes were staged by telephone workers in eight states Wednesday. They left their jobs for six hours in seven Western states and in Ohio. The wildcat walkouts were attributed to rank - and - file dissatisfaction with the progress of contract negotiations.

Beirne predicted that in addition to the 55,000 affected workers, another 145,000 union members would respect picket lines.

The dispute concerns contract renewals with seven bargaining units across the country.

The union said Western Electric had offered an average hourly pay boost of nine cents under a three-year contract with wage reopening options twice during that period. The union is seeking a one-year contract with wage hikes averaging 11½ cents an hour.

'Huckleberry Finn' Dropped as Book In Public School

NEW YORK (UP) — Mark Twain's "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" has been dropped as a textbook in New York's elementary and junior high schools, apparently because of passages derogatory to Negroes.

The book, which relates the experiences of a boy and his friends along the Mississippi River in the 19th Century, also may be on its way out as a textbook in New York high schools.

Miss Ethel Huggard, associate school superintendent in charge of curriculum development, confirmed Wednesday that the Board of Education had failed to renew three textbook contracts for the book She denied, however, that this stemmed from objections to the book, which is regarded as one of Twain's greatest works.

But an official of one publishing firm said school authorities had informed him that his company's contract for the book was not renewed because the work contained passages derogatory to Negroes.

PUC Authorizes Helicopter Line

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission has authorized Pittsburgh Airways, Inc., to operate a chartered helicopter service between Pittsburgh and western Pennsylvania points.

A protest filed by Miller Air Lines, Inc., now operating helicopters in the area, was dismissed as "not being of sufficient merit to warrant disapproval" of the new service.

Airways, a subsidiary of Industrial Helicopters, Inc., Pittsburgh, operates out of the Wilkinsburg Airport. The helicopter firm said it would haul passengers and property and make aerial patrols of transmission lines of the Pennsylvania Power Co., New Castle, and West Penn Power Co., Pittsburgh.

Fulton Blasts Faubus At County Meeting

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—Rep. James G. Fulton (R-Pa.), maintaining the Republicans are the party of civil rights, has blasted Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus on the segregation issue.

"The troops of the governor of Arkansas are defying the government of the United States of America," Fulton told more than 450 Republican women from 12 southwestern Pennsylvania communities. The women met here Wednesday to drum up support for the GOP slate in November.

"With troops out in the south, history is repeating itself," Rep Fulton said. "Here in Pennsylvania, all kids go to the schools that belong to all of us."

The women heard panel discussions on legislative and congressional issues and pep talks from state leaders, including Pennsylvania Republican Chairman George I. Bloom, state vice chairman Mrs. Ruth G. Pennell, and four members of the state Legislature. The legislators blasted the Leader administration.

State Sen. Robert D. Fleming (Allegheny) said Leader "will do anything" to get elected to the U.S. Senate.

Sen Albert D. Pechan, (Armstrong) took the governor apart for vetoing so many bills, including one which would have moved Morganza State Training School from the Welfare Department to the Bureau of Corrections.

House Speaker Stuart. Helm (Armstrong) criticized the governor for calling "us a do-nothing, pinch-penny Legislature."

Rep. William G. Buchanan (Indiana) said passage of the right-to-know law was an outstanding act of the recent legislature.

A total of 113 delegates attended from Westmoreland County. State GOP Chairman George I. Bloom urged them to return to their precincts "determined to crack the Democratic hold on the county."

"Elect three judges and a district attorney in Westmoreland County and the county will fall into the Republican column in the state," Bloom said.

Nick Miller's Auto Wrangled Over by Creditors

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Nick Miller's automobile, released by the Allegheny County coroner Wednesday, was being wrangled over by creditors of the slain Wheeling, W. Va. gambler today.

The car, a 1957 two toned Lincoln hardtop, was released to Andrew Zaleski, from whom it was purchased. Zaleski said Miller still owed him $1,500 at the time of his death.

Clement Yipling, Martins Ferry, Ohio, had a writ of attachment served on Zaleski immediately after the automobile was released. Yipling claims Miller owed him $1,700.

The car was moved to a parking garage here by Zaleski, where it will probably remain until the claims are settled.

The Miller slaying has been almost a complete mystery to police since the 45-year-old gambler's body was found stuffed in the trunk of his car here Aug. 22

Carrie May not Hit Mainland Of United States

MIAMI (UP)—There were continued indications today that hurricane Carrie will miss the U. S. mainland, the weather bureau reporting the storm accelerating in a northward direction with reduced winds.

The weather bureau at San Juan, Puerto Rico reported in a 6 a.m. e.d.t. advisory that the storm had made no westward progress in the previous six hours, strengthening their belief that it will not affect the U.S. East Coast.

The latest advisory said the storm was located about 940 miles east-northeast of San Juan. Highest winds were estimated at about 90 miles immediately around the center, with gale winds extending 120 miles to the north and 75 miles to the south.

A continued northward drift at a slightly increased forward speed was forecast during the next 12 hours, with no important change in intensity.

Road Program Will Boost Stock Market

NEW YORK (UP)—One of the big plus signs for the future of the stock market as Wall Street views it is the federal highway building program

So far the program hasn't produced the activity that the market men had anticipated when the Federal Highway Act of 1956 was passed. That's mainly because of the high cost of raising municipal funds to match those of the U S Treasury, it is held.

But the plan is slowly developing and it is expected to gain momentum in the coming year.

This year's market was hurt by the cuts in federal expenditures, notably for defense. Any increase such as the highway program would produce would be seen as a real market aid.

The whole road plan is expected to mushroom into a giant construction project which will boost employment and make good business for a vast number of companies in many lines of industry

Estimates are that by 1970 the grand total for highways will be boosted to $100 billion not including maintenance.

That's a cumulative total, of course, and a big one. The Alexander Hamilton Insitute said that even taking the minimum figure of around 50 billion dollars it represents three and a third times the total expenditures for the public works administration during the depression years, 17 times the entire investment to date in TVA, and 79 times the cost of building the Panama Canal

Not too many years ago the economy got a big lift when the government paid a soldier bonus that is dwarfed by the road program for one year. Hence the feeling that when it really begins to perk, the economy and the stock market will benefit.

The American Petroleum Institute has figured out who's going to pay for the roads—the users of the highways will pay, says the institute's "tax economics bulletin"

The government, the bulletin notes, is merely shifting the federal taxes on motor fuel, motor vehicles and other automotive products from the general fund to use of highway construction.

The bulletin records that the average tax on house brand gasoline has now reached a record high at 8.86 cents a gallon with the price of gasoline excluding taxes less than two cents a gallon higher than it was in 1949.

Unusual Delays Hold Up Washington Trial

An unusual series of circumstances prevented a case from going to trial in Washington County Court yesterday.

The case involved Edward Strahas, proprietor of a Washington tavern who is accused of selling intoxicants to a minor.

Because of a busy court schedule, the case wasn't called until yesterday although originally scheduled for last week. Then followed a series of further delays.

Defense Counsel William C Porter was tied up in a civil case, creating the first wait.

When Porter finally arrived, Judge George T. Cummins, who was to try the case, announced that he was disqualifying himself.

Judge Cummins explained his action by pointing out that he instigated the investigation of the tavern after Thomas Stickels, the prosecution's main witness, told him he had received intoxicants at the Strahas tavern. At the time, Stickels was pleading guilty to a burglary charge.

Judge Cummins then referred the trial to Judge David H. Weiner, but he was occupied with another civil case. Judge Roy I. Carson was also busy with a criminal case and he could not accept the Strahas trial.

By the end of he day, the jury panel had been excused and the Strahas case was automatically continued to the November term.

An Adequate Library For Monessen

CITY COUNCIL'S plan to assume the full burden of providing public library service in Monessen, including construction of a new building designed especially for the purpose, coincides with the best thinking in the fields of both municipal government and public library administration.

It has long been an accepted principle in America that the government exists to do for the people what they cannot do, or cannot do so well, for themselves. And the City's plans for library development are in keeping with that principle.

For nearly the first 40 years of its existence, Monessen had no public library at all. And since 1936 it has had a library only because a relative handful of private citizens have been willing year after year to piece together from a dozen different sources the funds to keep it going on even a meagre basis.

Modern cities, however, put library service on the same footing as schools, streets, sewers, police and fire protection, refuse disposal and all the other essential municipal services. And because it is for the benefit of all the people, it has a proper claim upon tax funds. To regard library service as a charity depending upon free will contributions is to underestimate its essentiality in the modern community.

THE CIVIC Library Association has done a valiant job for over 20 years in giving Monessen some kind of library facilities. But good as the present library is by comparison with libraries in some other communities, its facilities do not approach Monessen's real requirements.

It has in its book collection, for instance, less than one book for every resident of the city. It should have no fewer than three.

Because of the inadequate collection, the library in 1955 circulated only about 2.8 books per capita whereas cities where adequate service is offered will circulate 8 books per capita in a year.

Monessen's present libray has only six seats for the use of readers and no reading room to speak of. The American Library Association says a library in a city of this size should have a minimum of 95 seats for readers.

For a private group to attempt to provide adequate facilities and service would be a well nigh impossible task. And that is why the only sensible course is for the city to assume the responsibility.

THE PLANS call for the submission to the voters on Nov. 5 of a $200,000 bond issue, the proceeds to be used to finance construction of the new library building. The Civic Library Association would also contribute its assets, including the present building on Fifth St. and the new site on Donner Ave., which the association owns.

Third class city law encourages the establishment of municipal libraries and provides for their operation through trustees appointed by the council and serving without pay.

The Monessen Council is to be congratulated for accepting this new responsibility. And if the voters will do their part in approving the bond issue, an important contribution will be made towards a still better community.

Passing the Buck

HAVING just complimented the City Council for an action of far-reaching importance, we regret having to object so soon to another councilmanic decision, namely the decision to submit the question of water fluoridation to a popular vote.

While we regard the arguments in favor of fluoridation as compelling, the subject is nevertheless a highly technical one which few laymen are competent to explore. And this creates opportunities for the ill-informed or the half-informed to manufacture all sorts of irrelevant "issues."

By calling for a referendum, Council is obviously ducking a responsibility. Fluoridation has been unqualifiedly recommended by every medical and dental society in the country as an effective measure to reduce tooth decay in children. The U. S. Public Health Service and every state health department which has studied the matter is actively recommending fluoridation of public water supplies.

What more is necessary? If we are going to make fluoridation dependent on the outcome of a public controversy, why not have a referendum on vaccination for smallpox? After all, essentially the same people who object to fluoridation also objected to vaccination — and for some of the same silly reasons.

Certainly the members of Council should study the matter carefully and get the best scientific advice available before recommending fluoridation. But they should not pass the buck to the electorate and take the risk of denying the community the benefits of one of the greatest discoveries in public health in this century.

Greek Armed Forces Are Efficient

(Editor's note: Drew Pearson is now on a trip through southern Europe and the Near East to report on American attempts to meet the Communist menace.)

By DREW PEARSON

ATHENS, Greec. — Just 18 years ago, shortly after Hitler invaded Poland, Franklin D. Roosevelt called a meeting of Senate leaders to discuss the emergency facing the United States. During that conference he remarked:

"America's first line of defense is on the Rhine."

Mr. Pearson

The meeting was supposed to be strictly confidential. But shortly thereafter, word of what F. D. R. had said leaked out and the late Sen. Bennett Clark of Missouri denounced him for claiming that the nation's first line of defense was beyond the New York, New Jersey and New England coast. Other senators joined Clark in the attack.

Since then the world war which Roosevelt foresaw spread to Hawaii and to submarine sinkings within eyesight of the Florida and Carolina coasts; while the first line of America's defense has been extended to air bases far beyond the Rhine.

As part of this extension, Harry Truman, exactly 10 years ago, placed one American line of defense in Greece and Turkey. Probably it was the most revolutionary, radical extension of American defense since Roosevelt's 1939 statement about the Rhine.

So today, 10 years after establishment of the Truman Doctrine, what many people would like to know is whether this Greek- Turkish line of defense is in fact a real line of defense; whether our dollars have been wisely invested, and whether the Communist menace is winning or losing in a part of the world which guards the only warm waterway to Russia — the Bosphorus.

With the Soviet now jumping across this waterway to Syria and Egypt, the big question is: Will our Greek and Turkish allies get boxed in? With Soviet submarine bases in Albania, Syria and Egypt, will they become isolated, discouraged, and start leaning toward Russia?

This is one of the most important questions facing the United States and to get the answer, I came first to Athens.

Efficient Greek Air Force

Part of the answer lies in the Greek army, air force and navy. Part lies in the determination of the Greek people. To get the military answer I went out to Eleusis Airfield to talk to various officers, including Gen. John Politakos, chief of the Greek Joint Staff Group. I also talked with American military men in Greece, flew in Greek air force planes and watched the most dramatic jet-fighter exhibitions I have ever seen. For skillful, precision-timed flying it surpassed an American show I once saw staged for General Eisenhower at Munich, Germany.

There is no question but that the Greek military are in tip-top shape and that morale is high. In time of war they could supply 11 army divisions, plus one armored division plus 12 air wings, plus a small but highly skilled navy. The Greek Navy, however, has only four submarines, two of them old British subs. They are outdated by the Syrians and Egyptians with up-to-date Soviet subs.

The Greek military, which amounts to another arm of the U. S. armed forces stationed right alongside the Iron Curtain, is costing the USA peanuts. A Greek soldier is paid one drachma — three cents — per day. A Greek colonel is paid $120 a month, about the same as the pay of an American private first class with dependent's allowance.

Financed by Farm Aid

Furthermore this is all financed by American farm products. Aside from the military equipment sent from the United States, much of which is old, all the military and economic aid for Greece this year came from selling Secretary Benson's huge oversupply of farm products.

Probably few American farmers realize it, but Benson would have had his bins bulging even more if it weren't for the aid program to Greece and other countries.

Here is how the aid program works out in terms of farm products:

1. A total of $15,000,000 in farm products is sold in Greece for local Greek currency. This money goes to the Greek military and is an outright gift.

2. Another $13,000,000 in farm products is given to the Greek people through CARE, Church World Services and Catholic Welfare. This also is a gift.

3. Another $40,000,000 in farm products goes to the Greek government on a loan basis, to be repaid in 10 years at 4 per cent interest.

Nullification in Arkansas

By WALTER LIPPMANN

It is reasonably plan that Governor Faubus put on his show at the Central High School in Little Rock, not in order to prevent disorder, but in order to nullify the decision of the Supreme Court. He has himself admitted that he was persuaded to act during a visit to Arkansas on Aug 22 by the Governor of Georgia. And although it has been denied from Georgia that the two governors reached an understanding, Governor Faubus has in fact done precisely what he was told that Governor Griffin was prepared to do in his state.

Mr. Lippmann

The circumstances of the whole affair indicate, indeed prove, that the Governor's decision to use the National Guard to keep the Negro children out of the school was taken some time before there could have been any manifestation by the mob. We know on the highest local authority in Little Rock, that of the Mayor and of the School Board, that the mob disorder did not precede but has followed the intervention of the National Guard troops.

Police Adequate

The Mayor is insisting that the local police were quite adequate to cope with any trouble that might have arisen if there had been no provocation by the Governor's "unwarranted interference. . . to create tension where none existed." If the Governor had really been concerned, as he pretends to be, with the danger of mob disorder, he would not have sent in the National Guard until there was some evidence that the local police were inadequate. What, in fact, he did was to supersede the local police before there was any disorder at all.

The Governor's conduct in the affair makes it seem very likely that the crisis has been engineered, and that Arkansas was picked for an experiment, and that Governor Faubus was hornswoggled into providing a test case for an adventure in nullification. It was a smart idea to pick Governor Faubus and Arkansas. For the Governor has not in the past been known as an absolute segregationist. Nor has the state of Arkansas been, like the states of the Deep South, irreconcilable, and there has been some integration in some of the Arkansas schools. If a precedent for outright nullification could be established in a state like Arkansas, there would be little to argue about if Georgia followed suit.

Pattern Sought

There is very strong internal evidence for believing that the Little Rock crisis was engineered in order to establish a pattern and a precedent for nullification. The evidence is in the fact that the actual situation in Little Rock was, before the Governor intervened, the very opposite of the situation on which rests the case of the South. During the summer in the debate in the Senate on the civil rights bill, there came to be a national understanding by all sections of the country that integration is not to be imposed on Southern communities where the white citizens are predominantly opposed.

But in Little Rock the plan of integration was drawn up by the local school board, and it was explained for months to the civic organizations of Little Rock. It was, moreover, an extremely moderate plan — to admit nine Negro children among 1,900 white children, and to proceed gradually over a period of six years to admit a few more handfuls. The Little Rock plan called in fact for a token integration, just enough to establish symbolically the principle, not remotely enough to have any appreciable effect on the social order of the city.

Governor Faubus, and those with whom he has thrown in his lot, are acting exactly as they would have acted if they intended to precipitate an irreconcilable conflict in the hope that the federal government will accept defeat. They have acted in a manner which, if they intended it, could not have been calculated more shrewdly to spoil the progress towards an understanding and an accommodation which the country owes to Senator Russell of Gorgia, to Senator Lyndon Johnson and to Speaker Rayburn.

President Can't Retreat

The President cannot, it need hardly be said, retreat and surrender. Governor Faubus has raised a critical issue which is whether the National Guard of a state may be used to prevent local communities within that state from obeying the law of the land. Is it the right of a state to employ military force to nullify the Constitution?

The President is bound, so it seems to me, not to consider that this affair is settled until a clear precedent has been established which rules out the use of the National Guard as an instrument of nullification.

Congress and the President have both ruled out the use of federal troops to impose integration. The necessary corollary is to rule out the use of state troops to impose segregation. The principle is clear and the President will have overwhelming support from the country in supporting it by all the legal powers at his command.

A failure to support the principle would not only be ignominous. It would be a betrayal of the liberal Southern leaders, leaving them at the mercy of the rabid segregationists with whom they have been contending so valiantly and so well.

India Wants Larger Arms Conference

By CHARLES M. McCANN

India has given Soviet Russia its backing in the demand that the membership of the United Nations disarmament conference be enlarged.

In a memorandum to the U.N., India proposes that new members be added to both the 12-member disarmament commission and its five-member subcommittee, which conducted the recent negotiations in London.

Mr. McCann

The idea is to get membership in the commission and the subcommittee for "neutralist" and possibly Communist countries which support Russia's demand for unconditional suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

It was Russia's stubborn insistence on unconditional suspension that broke up the London talks.

Some Countries Worried

There is no doubt that a lot of countries are seriously worried over the effects of radio-active fallout from the tests.

But what Russia wants is to get the United States and Great Britain, its rivals in the nuclear weapons race, to stop their tests without getting a guarantee, through a system of inspection, that would prevent any cheating.

An unconditional ban also would protect Russia against the possibility that France, if not other countries, might develop hydrogen bombs. In addition it would leave Russia with enormous superiority over the Western Allies in armed strength.

India's memorandum to the U.N. said it must be admitted that the present disarmament subcommittee "does not appear to be able to achieve tangible progress or agreement in the field of disarmament."

The memorandum said also that there was ever-increasing danger to all forms of life from the accumulation of radiation from weapons tests.

It became clear, in the last weeks of the London disarmament talks, that Russia was out to add India and other anti-test countries to the disarmament commission and especially to the subcommittee.

Soviet Chief Delegate Valerian A. Zorin complained, in a statement when the London talks broke up, that all of its members except Russia are allied in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Western members of the subcommittee are the United States, Britain, France and Canada.

Important Powers

However, as Zorin well knew, the Western members were chosen because they are the most important atomic powers, along with Russia. The United States and Britain were chosen because they actually have developed nuclear weapons. France was chosen partly because it is one of the Big Three Western Allies, partly because it is able to develop nuclear weapons if it chooses. Canada was included because of its uranium and other natural resources.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon are to represent their countries in the U.N. Assembly debate on disarmament, which is likely to start about Oct. 1.

That means there will be a flood of propaganda speeches. Both Gromyko and Krishna Menon are tireless talkers.

But the Allied countries, and those who back them, certainly are not going to agree to any unconditional ban on weapons testing.

How Chinese Reporter May Find America

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP) —The State Department seems to be thinking over whether to admit Chinese Communist reporters to this country. If one should arrive in New York and report conditions as he found them inside this mysterious city, his first dispatch might read this way:

Honored friends. This day I came in to New York by way of the big and crowded Pennsylvania Station. Everywhere was evidence that in America the machine is replacing the man. I watched the ticket sellers. A machine served up each little cardboard ticket, already stamped as to destination. Cold, efficient speed is the keynote.

Beside each ticket agent was a closed-circuit TV set. While I was there, each set bore on its screen the message: "There's always a next train. . .on the Pennsy!" This evidently is a device to console those who have missed their train.

Can't Overlook Elvis

Against the lobby walls, row on row, were food machines. You may insert a coin and have the machine serve you eight kinds of fresh candy, also cigarettes, fruit drinks, ice cream, and unpeeled oranges and peaches by pushing a lever. For one dime coin. I had my choice from one machine of beef, chicken, onion, or potato soup served in a clean cardboard cup but scalding hot.

In the corridor to the street were many stores, including one which is an index to American culture, a combination book and record shop. In the window two themes stood out: Love - making and violence. Record albums displayed included "Boy Meets Girl." "Steady Date," "Bread, Love and Cha Cha Cha," and "Elvis Presley Loving You."

Books displayed included "Air Force," "Gun Digest," "Soldier," "Day of Infamy," "The Battle for Investment Survival," "Take My Life," "Radiation," "The World's Warships," and, a combination of the two themes, "A Time To Love and A Time To Die." Many books had love titles.

A Book With Everything

One book was striking. "They Hanged My Saintly Billy," by Robert Graves, had this to say about itslef on the cover: "A novel filled with sex, drink, dope, horse racing, incest, suicide, murders, scandalous legal proceedings, cross examinations, inquests, and a good public hanging." I hurried to the next shop.

Its window contained men's clothing: A shirt of solid, glorious red: a checkered jacket priced at 75 American dollars (whew!); a flask for carrying liquor upon the person; and six little white balls for golf, a game the Americans have copied from Scotland.

Outside, walkers seemed happy but in a hurry. I joined them, walking rapidly into a store name "Woolworth." The ground floor was devoted mostly to eating, and a lengthy line was waiting for an old American dish "Pizza, 15 cents a cut." It is eaten by hand, without a plate.

As I stood observing, several women approached and spoke to me: "Are you the manager?" I said no but thanked each for the flattery. They said the manager could not be found. Outside again, it was the night rush hour. Pedestrians were so fast and reckless that three times onrushing heavy females nearly knocked me over. Here you must be fast. Ding hao.

Kuvinka Denies Ouster Report

"Monessen's Ozarks have paid their fine for failing to appear at the final game of the season and they paid it before the deadline set by league officials so there is nothing to a report that the Mon Valley League officials were considering lifting the Ozark franchise". . . That's Commissioner George Kuvinka of the MVL answering a recent report from a neighboring community that the Ozarks might not be considered in next year's Mon Valley loop plans . . . "There never was a second discussion about lifting the Ozark franchise, only the one right after the final game when they (the Ozarks) failed to appear at Fayette City, but now, having taken their punishment they are definitely in our future plans," he added.

A teammate of Crafton's at Donora High, Bob Gaydos, will begin his senior year at Notre Dame soon . . . A bright prospect in high school, Butch, as Bob is known, has played terrific ball for the Irish but has been hobbled somewhat by injuries . . . The cooperation of the police, merchants, school officials and the Ravens Club was highly praised by President Allen Kline, Commissioner Armand Niccolai and all other officials of the local Midget Football League for making opening night such a success Tuesday . . . As Steve Pfiester, chairman of the Recreation Board put it, "Everything was handled in professional-like style."

And don't forget Windber tickets are on sale tonight and tomorrow night from 7 until 9 o'clock at the high school gym office . . . On the subject of tickets, how about the 823,048 total purchased by Pittsburgh Pirate fans so far this season . . . And for a seventh and eighth place club! . . . If the Bucs would climb to t he first division they'd need Pitt Stadium to handle the crowds.

Karl Praises High School Coaches

Ken Karl, former Har-Brack head football coach, who later assisted Bernie Crimmins at Indiana U. but is now back in high school ball as the new Turtle Creek mentor has some interesting observations on comparisons between coaching in high school and college . . . Karl claims high school coaches today are doing the job of teaching offensive football on a scale with the college coaches but the college mentors have the edge in defensive tutoring . . . Ken credits spring training with giving the colleges an opportunity to devote an entire training period to defense, "something the high school coaches can't do as they simply do not have the time." . . . Karl's Creekers scrimmaged Donora the other day and Tom Urbanik and Angie Dabiero, Dragon backfield aces, each scored two TDs.

New Amateur Golfer Jimmy Demaret Type

By OSCAR FRALEY

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UP)—Jim Tom Blair, a massive young man from Missouri, is going to have to be shown that he can't win the U.S. Amateur golf championship but one way or another he already has won designation as the Jimmy Demaret of the simon pure shotmakers.

Jim Tom's pappy is a distinguished gentleman named James T. Blair, who, incidentally, or maybe not too incidentally at that, happens to be the governor of Missouri. After all, Jim Tom stumped the Missouri crossroads for his sire and the golf crowd is certain that won a lot of votes.

Because this affable young behemoth, a 220-pound slugger who delights in knocking the cover off the little white ball, is right out of the Demaret stamp.

At "The Country Club," probably the most sedate cow pasture in the world, Jim Tom uses the Demaret technique of bright witticisms and an ever-ready smile to keep everybody in stitches. He has the clothes to match, also, the rainbow hues matching the twinkle of his gray-green eyes.

"Let the milk stand long enough," he allowed breezily after belting his way into the fifth round, "and the cream will always come to the top."

Not boastful, you understand. Just youthfully exuberant, even though Jim Tom at 26 can't be classed as a high school boy. Particularly when you consider that he has tried his learning talents at four colleges—SMU, LSU, Oklahoma A&M and Missouri — and "left without benefit of sheepskin."

"I just never could agree with how they marked all the papers," he grins. "Besides, because of what you might call political reasons, the family wanted me to go to college at home. But when my sister said she was going to Northwestern, I just jumped Missouri."

Jim Tom started playing golf after he caddied for Frank Stranahan in a Kansas City tournament.

"I was 16 years old and I've been at it ever since," he explained. "But two years in the Army wasn't much benefit. The manual of arms isn't designed to help your short game."

Wednesday morning he was three down at the 10th hole against Bob Astleford of Omaha. Jim Tom played four-under-par golf the rest of the way to win, 1 up.

"I didn't want to go home," he quipped. "It's a long, ugly trip."

Jim Tom went out in the afternoon and reached the round of 16 by dumping Dick Whiting of Royal Oak, Mich., 5 and 4. He was thus three under par for the day.

'Watch Dona!' Hounds Battle Cry

Quarterback Last Season Shifted To Fullback Post

Watch Dona! That's the battle cry the Monessen High Greyhounds will have to carry into the Windber Stadium Saturday night, for if the locals are to stop the Ramblers they'll have to stop Don Dona, according to word out of the Windber area.

Dona, a junior, was the regular quarterback last season but showed so much running ability and has put on enough weight to be shifted to fullback this year. Although only a junior, Dona is playing his final season for Coach John Kawchak, as he will be overage next year. This age factor is another advantage for the Rambler ace as a year or two edge in maturity at the high school level makes a great difference between players.

In addition to Dona Windber boasts four others who played enough last season to rate letters. They are Bob Zvolerin, guard-end; Mike Hynick, center; Aloysius (Hoko) Tavalsky, end; and Joe Kosturka, a tackle.

Tom Klena, a senior tackle, is expected to see considerable action with his 200 pounds plus coming in handy in upping the line's weight average.

Heavier this Season

Windber is heavier this season than last and if the backs can develop speed, Kawchak feels he has a contender. Last year's Rambler eleven posted a 6-3 record, losing to Altoona, Johnstown, bitter area rivals, and Pittsburgh North Catholic.

Getting back to Dona, in addition to his being expected to carry the brunt of the running attack this year, he will also do the punting with help from the other backs. Tavalsky will kick off and boot extra points when the occasion arises.

Meanwhile, on the local scene, Coach Armand Niccolai hopes the "flu bug" doesn't start making the round after Big Ed Allen, 260-pound tackle was floored by the "pest" earlier this week. A couple of other players have missed school and it is feared they have also contacted the flu.

An under-the-lights scrimmage may be carded for tonight.

Richmond Leads Buffalo Bisons In IL Playoffs

By UNITED PRESS

The Richmond Virginians will send newcomer Wilson Parsons against Buffalo today as they attempt to take a commanding two-game lead in the International League's semifinal playoffs.

Richmond banged out 15 hits—all singles—to defeat the Bisons, 6-3, Wednesday night. In the other best-of-seven semifinal series, Miami upset the pennant - winning Toronto Maple Leafs, 6-0, to take a one game edge.

Parsons, who won three games without a defeat in the regular season for Richmond, will be matched against Buffalo's left-handed pitching ace, Walt Craddock. Craddock was 18-8 for the Bisons. Miami is expected to send southpaw Dick Bunker (6-10) up against the Leaf's Don Johnson (17-7).

Jim Coates, the International League's strikeout leader, went all the way for the Vees, limiting Buffalo to five hits. Luke Easter, the Bisons's big first baseman, hit two homers, the second one carrying 430 feet.

Ray Semproch stranded 10 Leafs on the base paths in getting Miami off and running in the playoffs. Woody Smith banged a two-run homer for the Marlins and Marv Blaylock contributed three hits.

Manzini Tabs 'Canes 'Ready' for Perry 11

"We're ready," is Bellmar High grid coach Bap Manzini's terse comment on the eve of the Hurricanes' 1957 opener with Perryopolis (Perry-Lower Tyrone Joint High School) at Perryopolis tomorrow night.

His short, to-the-point observation came following a scrimmage under the lights (to similate game conditions) at Bellmar Stadium last night.

The Hurricane mentor also outfitted his starters in game uniforms yesterday giving the Manzinimen a "Pittsburgh Steeler" look with black jerseys, trimmed in gold with gold letters and gold pants. Gold helmets complete the outfit except for the black stockings trimmed in (that's right) gold. Manzini, a veteran National Professional Football League star, annually boasts a neat appearing eleven even issuing white shoestrings, for games. "Some coaches might tab such attentio.. to appearance as silly but I feel, as Knute Rockne did, that a sharp appearing team plays sharper ball than a sloppy appearing team — it's psychological," Manzini explained.

Probable Starters Set

Defensively, Ken Waugaman will be at a guard, Dennis Swiantek at a halfback or corner line-backer slot along with Howie Lippencott to help Burgess, Rankin and Lou Comadena and the other starters who will go "both ways." Also slated for considerable action are Dick Caputo at center, Ron Coates at quarterback and John Chicchiani at fullback.

With 10 lettermen back, Manzini hopes to make up for his first losing season in his seven years at Bellmar, the 4-5-0 record of last season.

The former St. Vincent College and Philadelphia Eagles star will have his hands full, however, as Don Mains' Perryopolis eleven has six regulars back from last season's team which posted a 7 wins, two losses mark, one of those defeats coming at the hands of Bellmar in the 1956 opener, 20-6.

"Team morale is high and that's always a good sign," added Manzini this morning. Another good sign is that for the first time in several seasons no injuries have plagued the 'Canes in preseason drills and Bap hopes this new record "holds."

Signed by Redlegs

CINCINNATI (UP) — Dave Skaugstad, a 17-year-old left-handed pitcher from Compton, Calif., who signed with the Cincinnati Redlegs for an undisclosed bonus, will be in uniform Friday night when the Redlegs meet the Philadelphia Phillies at Crosley Field. Skaugstad, according to Cincinnati General Manager Gabe Paul, is not a bonus player and can be farmed out a tany time.

Teams Arrive for 3rd Global Series

DETROIT (UP)—More than 100 top semi-pro baseball players from throughout the world were assembled here today for the third annual Global World Series.

The series, a double elimination event, gets underway at Briggs Stadium Friday night with teams from Japan, Holland, Hawaii, Colombia, Venezuela, Mexico and Canada trying to keep the United States from carting off the title for the third year in a row.

Allen Dairies of Fort Wayne, Ind., won the championship at Milwaukee last year.

Burris Injured

EDMONTON, Alta. (UP)—Kurt Burris, formerly of the University of Oklahoma, will be lost to the Edmonton Eskimoes for about a month because of a broken thumb. Burris suffered the injury in Monday night's Western Conference game with the Calgary Stampeders. Bob Weber, formerly of Colorado A&M, has been named to take Burris' place.

Sooners Becoming Conservative

PITTSBURGH (UP)—University of Pittsburgh football Coach Johnny Michelosen, whose Panthers meet Oklahoma here Sept. 21, said today he would not be surprised to find the Sooners using a more conservative offense this season.

"(Bud) Wilkinson might not be as open offensively this year," he said, "because he's got to make a shift in the quarterback spot Trying to find a new quarterback takes time away from developing the fancy stuff."

In Pitt's heavy scrimmage Wednesday, Michelosen expressed satisfaction with the work of fullback Bob Stark, a 200-pound junior from East McKeesport, who has been running well in practice.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Power Loss

To get power into a golf shot, the shoulders should turn MORE than the hips on the backswing The backswing, you see, is a winding up, or coiling, of the body for the coming hit.

If the shoulders turn no more than the hips, you won't be properly wound up. You will get little power from the unwinding process. If the shoulders turn less than the hips, you won't be wound up at all — and the body will supply virtually no power on the downswing.

For full power on the drive and the fairway wood, turn the shoulders so that you have your back to the objective. The hips should turn to the point where the belt buckle faces about toward the right toe. You turn less on the irons, cutting down as distance lessens.

The above directions presuppose a player with at least average suppleness of body. Older players may not be able to turn this freely on the backswing. This won't matter too much — provided the shoulder turn exceeds the hip turn.

Bucs Climb Again, Top Milwaukee, 2-1

MILWAUKEE (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates moved back into seventh place again Wednesday following a 2-1 victory over Milwaukee and a loss by Chicago to Brooklyn.

Catcher Hank Foiles hit a home run in the third inning and singled home the winning run in the ninth to spoil Warren Spahn's attempt for his 20th victory.

The winner was Ron Kline, who has copped six straight games. He deprived Spahn of a chance to join Lefty Grove as the only lefthanders in major league history to win 20 games in eight seasons.

The big righthander gave up six hits in winning his eighth against 15 defeats. Spahn allowed seven in losing his ninth.

The Pirates meet Chicago in two games today. Bob Friend (11-17) and R.G. Smith (1-3) are scheduled to face Don Elston (5-6) and Dave Hillman (5-11).

Meanwhile Pirate manager Danny Murtaugh has warned the Braves not to expect their opposition to "drop dead."

No one gives you anything in this game" Murtaugh said, after his team had just whipped the Braves.

"The Braves will have to fight They'll see the best pitching and playing in the remaining games After all, the guys down below get quite a bit of satisfaction out of beating a front runner," he warned.

Murtaugh said he hasn't been told yet whether he'll be back for a full term next season. He replaced Bobby Bragan last July.

"My boys have been playing over .500 since I took over. That should help," he said.

Five Additions To Rating Board

NEW YORK (UP) — Five new coaches will serve on the 1957 United Press football rating board, which will begin rating the nation's collegiate football teams after games of Saturday, Sept. 21.

As in the past, five outstanding coaches from each of the seven sections of the country will make up the board and rate the teams weekly. Their ratings have become recognized generally as the most authoritative in college football.

The new board members are Aldo (Buff) Donelli of Columbia, Bill Jennings of Nebraska, James Owens of Washington, Henry (Red) Sanders of UCLA and Dallas Ward of Colorado.

The first of the 1957 ratings will be released to afternoon newspapers of Tuesday, Sept. 24. As in past seasons, the ratings will be released alternately for Tuesday morning and Tuesday afternoon newspapers

Each of the 35 coaches on the board will rank the top 10 teams each week. Their selections are used only to reach a consensus and never on an individual basis. Points are awarded on the basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, nine for a second and so on down to one for a 10th.

As in the past, the United Press will award a permanent trophy to the football team chosen by the coaches as the best in the land.

Graziano Sees Sugar by Kayo

NEW YORK (UP)—Rocky Graziano, who should be a top authority on middleweights vs welterweights, bet $100 against $1,200 today that Sugar Ray Robinson will knock out Carmen Basilio in the first round.

During his turbulent career, ex-middleweight champion Rocky fought so many 147 - pounders he was called "the best middleweight in the welterweight division."

Graziano, now a television and movie actor, said "I'm picking Sugar Ray to knock out Carmen within five rounds, but it could happen in the first round. So — when a fellow offered me 12-1 against a first - round kayo, I grabbed it."

Sporstmen's Corner—

International Wildlife Convention Underway

The 1957 convention of the International Association of Game, Fish, and Conservation Commissioners, and the annual meeting of the American Fisheries Society in conjunction with it, is being held this week in Las Vegas, Nevada. This conclave will bring together a large number of professional game and fish workers, as well as wildlife administrators from all over the United States, Canada, Mexico, and Hawaii.

Formal reports and discussions will be presented on the latest research and management findings in the fish and game field.

Pennsylvania is particularly interested in this conference because the Game Commission and the Fish Commission will be the hosts to these organizations in 1958. In September, next year, the International will be held in Philadelphia, marking the first meeting of this Association in the Keystone State.

C. Elwood Hoffman, President of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, and Commissioners Herbert L. Buchanan and Dewey H. Miller will attend this week's meeting, in company with Commission Executive Director, Logan J. Bennett and Deputy Director M. J. Golden.

Dr. Bennett will be active as a member of the Resolutions Committee, also on a committee studying the Pittman-Robertson program. He will report to the convention on the preliminary plans and arrangements for the 1958 International in Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania sportsmen who enjoy hunting the fast-flying, colorful mourning dove are looking forward to the approaching 1957 season, which opens September 10 and closes on the evening of October 24. The shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, except on October 19, when no shooting may be done before 8 a.m. The daily bag and possession limit is 10 birds.

Mourning doves are present in the state in goodly numbers. Under normal late summer conditions the birds fly between a cornfield and a watering place in early morning and late afternoon. This habit of the dove ordinarily indicates the most likely places, for hunters who do not "walk them up", to wait for pass shooting when the dipping, rolling, speedy targets come in.

Martinez Rallies To Stop Baker

CHICAGO (UP) — Vince Martinez, fourth - ranking welterweight, said today he wants his next ring outing to be a title fight or an elimination match leading to the crown.

Martinez held on to his NBA rating by rallying in the eighth round to stop underdog Larry Baker in the ninth round of their Chicago Stadium bout Wednesday night.

The usually-stylish Martinez, a 12-5 favorite, had his hands full up until the end when referee Bernie Weisman forbade Baker from coming out for the ninth frame.

Orioles Sign Pitcher

BALTIMORE (UP) — Richard Moavero, an 18-year-old left handed pitcher from Stamford, Conn., has been signed by the Baltimore Orioles to a 1958 contract with the club's Fitzgerald, Ga., farm team in the Class D Georgia - Florida League. He reports next spring.

John Lattner Retires; Steelers Release Lynn Chandnois Outright

LIGONIER, Pa. (UP) — Johnny Lattner, who made everyone's All-America four years ago while the celebrated halfback at Notre Dame, slipped unheralded from professional football today — the victim of a knee injury suffered in a service game.

Lattner ended a self - imposed probation period by asking his release from the Pittsburgh Steelers, the team he went to in 1954 while the toast of the nation and the winner of America's top sports awards.

A knee injury suffered in 1955 while playing football with Bolling Air Force Base proved his downfall, despite his persistent efforts to make good as a professional in the game he loved to play.

In other Steeler personnel changes Wednesday, Veteran halfback Lynn Chandnois was released outright by Coach Buddy Parker.

He is free to deal with any team in the National League.

"I was shocked when Parker told me I was through with the Steelers," Chandnois said. "I asked that I not be traded but wanted to be released outright. That way I can pick the next team I can play for."

Chandnois, who said he isn't going to quit the game the No. 1 Steeler draft choice in 1950, carried the ball 593 times for 1,934 yards and 14 touchdowns.

The Steelers negotiated their first trade with the Detroit Lions since Parker quit the team as coach. The Lions traded quarterback Jack Kemp and tackle Dave Liddick, a pair of rookies, for two 1958 draft choices.

The Steelers also obtained fullback Dale Atkeson in a straight player deal with the Washington Redskins. Pittsburgh gave up tackle Don Owens of Mississippi Southern. Atkeson, who had been in the league four seasons, never played college football.

Crazy Cardinals Making Pennant Plans

By MILTON RICHMAN

Dig those crazy Cardinals! They're going full speed ahead with pennant plans of their own even though Milwaukee already has the official okay to print its World Series tickets.

The way the Cards are rolling now, the Braves may have to burn those ducats, just as they did a year ago.

Freddie Hutchinson's resurgent Redbirds have won seven of their last eight and Milwaukee's lead over them has now shrunk to 4½ games. What's more, the Braves begin a three - game series with Brooklyn tonight and the third-place Dodgers still nurse faint pennant hopes of their own.

The Cardinals really did a job on the Phillies Wednesday night in crushing them, 14-6, for their fourth victory in a row. They routed ex-teammate Harvey Haddix with a six-run rally in the third inning and then scored six more runs in the fourth.

Lodgers Down Cubs

The Dodgers defeated the Cubs, 9-1, and the Pirates beat the Braves, 2-1, in the only other NL games scheduled.

Sal Maglie hurled the Yankees to a 5-0 triumph in the opener of a double-header but the Indians earned a split by taking the nightcap, 4-1, on Ray Narleski's four-hit pitching. The White Sox scored a 4-1 victory over the Red Sox in 11 innings, thereby cutting the Yanks' lead to 5½ games. Detroit swept a double-header from Washington, 3-0, and 12-2, while Kansas City licked Baltimore, 7-3, in the opener, then dropped the nightcap, 6-2.

Southpaw Johnny Podres of the Dodgers limited the Cubs to six hits in achieving his 12th victory, high-water mark of his big league career. Ernie Banks hit his 37th homer for Chicago.

Catcher Hank Foiles was Pittsburgh's star in its victory over Milwaukee, hitting a homer in the third inning and singling across the winning run in the ninth.

Sal Gets First AL Win

Maglie checked Cleveland on three hits in posting his first AL victory. A pair of Cleveland errors helped the Yanks score two runs off Early Wynn in the fourth inning. In the nightcap, Narleski notched his 10th win at the expense of Bobby Shantz.

Jim Rivera collected three hits, stole a base and drove in what proved to be the winning run for the White Sox in the 11th inning against the Red Sox.

Lanky Jim Bunning hit his first major league homer and pitched his first major league shutout in leading the Tigers to their victory over the Senators in the opener. In the nightcap, the Tigers exploded for nine runs in the seventh inning to drop the Senators into the cellar.

Ralph Terry's four - hit pitching earned the Athletics their first victory of the season in Baltimore in the first of two games, but two-run homers by George Kell and Gus Triandos gave the Orioles a split in the nightcap.

Cuban Purge Is Promised

HAVANA, Cuba (UP)—The government today counted on a sweeping purge of high military and police officers to tighten security measures against the rebels of Fidel Castro.

The purge, announced Wednesday, resulted in the arrest of three naval officers and the relieving of another of his command. Two other naval officers and three national police officers were retired from service.

At the same time the government renewed its pleas for armed rebels to surrender. A military communique reiterated a statement issued last week guaranteeing personal safety and a fair trial to any rebel who gives himself up.

HERSHEY, Pa., (UP) — More than 500 workers in the various enterprises of the Hershey Estates today prepared for a strike when their contract expires next Monday.

Officials of the Bakery and Confectionary Workers Union (AFL CIO) said no future negotiations have been scheduled. But they voiced the hope a walkout could be averted.

A strike would affect workers at the Hotel Hershey, Hershey Lumber Products, and the various public utilities and businesses operated by Hershey Estates. Employes at the Hershey Chocolate Corp. would not be affected because their contract does not expire at that time.

The union said it asked for a 21 - cents an hour increase for all employes, but that the company offered boosts up to eight cents an hour to some employes only. The union also asked the company to negotiate on a "unit" basis with all the workers, rather than separately with employes of each trade.

Employment Drop No Cause for Special Alarm

WASHINGTON (UP) — Government economists said today there is no cause for alarm in the fact that total U.S. employment declined 800,000 in August.

Despite the drop-off from July's record high of 67,200,000 employed persons, the economists said a simultaneous August decline in unemployment taken together with a high level of non-farm employment added up to signs of strength in the economy. The August employment figures were released Tuesday.

A reduction of 900,000 in the number of farm workers last month was described as "somewhat of a freak" because of unusual weather conditions earlier this year.

Christian Unity Meeting at Oberlin College Successful

By LOUIS CASSELS

OBERLIN, Ohio (UP) — To many laymen, the Church Unity Conference just ended at Oberlin College must have seemed a colossal flop. It produced no sweeping statements of ancient differences resolved, no grand plan for immediate reunion of Christians in a single big church.

But to the professionals who took part in the eight-day conference — merely 500 theologians, bishops, ministers and other official representatives from 47 major Protestant and Orthodox denominations—it was one of the most successful gatherings in the history of the quest for Christian unity.

None of them expected the Oberlin conference to yield a detailed scheme for organic unity of long-divided churches. The time is not yet ripe for that. The real purpose of this conference — which was accomplished to a degree that surprised even its most optimistic sponsors—was to create a new climate on mutual respect and understanding, based on the recognition that the faith which Christians have in common is far more important than specific differences which keep them divided into denominations.

A Spiritual Renewal

The real news of the Oberlin meeting is not to be found in any of the statements which it adopted, but in an experience which was shared by all of the delegates, and which is very hard to put into words.

In part it was the experience of learning from one another of finding together a new and deeper insight into doctrine, sacraments and biblical passages which in the past have been bones of contention among churches. This process was particularly evident in sections which discussed baptism and communion.

Beneath all of the differences which still surround these ancient rites, the conferees discovered the greater communities of faith, that in them God somehow imparts to man the great spiritual renewal. And there was unanimous feeling that churches did not need to agree on a precise definition of what happens in baptism and communion nearly so urgently as they need to take seriously, in their teaching and practices, what they already believe about the sacraments.

At the opening worship session, the delegates sang the old hymn written by Samuel Wesley: "The Church's One Foundation Is Jesus Christ Our Lord." This proved to be a prophetic comment on the whole conference.

Find More Agreement

The nearer the discussions drew to the center of Christian faith—the person of Jesus Christ and his redemptive mission — the more they found themselves in agreement. And this agreement was expressed not in the watered down concept of modernist theology, but in the bold, ringing affirmation of classical Christianity.

These affirmations were spelled out in fresh, vivid theological language in the first major speech of the conference by Prof. Robert L. Calhoun of Yale Divinity School. They were summed up in one sentence of the final report adopted by the conference Division of Doctrine:

"Christ stands at the center of his people's faith; He is the incarnate word of God and the sacrificial Savior of the world in who God bore the sin of mankind and founded a new humanity."

This sweeping repudiation of the theological vogue of the '20s and '30s which threatened to reduce the Christian image of Christ to that of a merely human teacher of ethics, was accompanied by a marked re- emergence of the Bible as a primary source of doctrine.

Few if any of the theologians here were prepared to go back to "fundamentalist" views of the Bible as an "infallible" document in which every word must be taken literally. But there was an almost universal readiness to refer to the "word of God" in the scriptures as the scale on which all doctrine must be weighed.

May Take Decades

The most exciting aspect of the conference to many veteran churchmen who remembered the bitterness of the past was the uniformly friendly atmosphere which prevailed in all discussions. Churchmen as diverse as high Anglican and Baptists, Greek Orthodox priests and Quaker messengers, learned here to like—as well as to "love"—one another.

The actual experience of what the Bible called the "fellowship" of Christian believers was the real accomplishment of the Oberlin conference. The church leaders hope now that it is transplanted and duplicated in thousands of local congregations across North America which have been asked to take up the study of unity begun here.

It may take decades, or generations, for this gradual process of "drawing together" to bear visible fruit in organic union of churches.

But delegates to Oberlin scattered to their homes convinced that it is the most promising pathway to Christian unity.

Band Boosters Make Plans For Coming School Year

Bellmarette Band Boosters met on Tuesday evening in the officers room of the Belle Vernon Musical Society and inaugurated plans for the 1957-58 school year. Mrs. Edith Doherty, president, was in charge.

Routine reports were given along with a financial report for last year.

Ernest Dolfi, director of the Bellmarette Band, introduced Ed Rizzuto, who has assumed the position of assistant director this term.

Mrs. Robert Scott, membership chairman, announced that 24 new members were enrolled. A large number attend the session, and the new members were introduced.

Mrs. Georgia Naccarato, canteen chairman, reported that she and her co-chairman, Hilda Borsotta, attended a Belle Vernon School Board meeting and were granted permission to operate Vernon Junior High School canteen on the same principles as last year. The only change is that girls who attend cannot sign out until 9:30 p.m. Canteen will be started late this month. Any of the members wishing to help are asked to contact the chairman.

Nello Ferrari, ways and means chairman, announced that plans are underway for a card party in the near future.

Robert Scott reported on the ruling of the Bellmarette School Board that the Varsity Club and Band Boosters must operate the refreshment stand at Bellmar stadium jointly this year. Profits from this activity are used to purchase sweaters for the senior athletes and jackets for the senior band members. Parents of Varsity Club members interested in assisting are asked to contact Mrs Doherty.

Dolfi outlined plans for the Lions Club Band Festival, Oct. 8, and announced that the Bellmar Band would receive 20 percent commission on each ticket the band members sell. There was a lengthy discussion between him and the members concerning parade appearances, music achievement tests, practice sessions, football games and other matters.

In behalf of the group Mrs Doherty extended congratulations to Mr. Dolfi on his recent marriage.

The next meeting of the group was advanced to Oct. 1 in order not to conflict with the Band Festival, which falls on the regular meeting night.

Luncheon was served by Mrs. Olga Boyle, Mrs. Elizabeth Kinik and Mrs Elizabeth Scott.

Family parties were held honoring Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davenport on the occasion of their wedding anniversary and Janet Lee on her birthday during their stay.

Brownie Troop 60 will meet for the first session of the new season tomorrow at 5:30 p. m. at the Lutheran Church.

Bellmarette School Additions to Start Soon

The additions to Bellmar High School and Marion Junior High School may be started in two or three weeks according to reports given on Tuesday evening at the meeting of the Bellmarette Joint School Board in Bellmar High School Library.

J. E. Kuhn, chairman of the special building committee, reported on the Aug. 20 session in Harrisburg, when bids were opened by the school board and State School Building Authority representatives. He reported that the successful bidders were summoned to Harrisburg this week to sign contracts. The Green Tree Construction Co. will be general contractor for the High School and Ralph Christner, Scottdale, for Marion Junior High.

Letters were read from the Department of Public Instruction and State School Building Authority authorizing the relocation of funds since the bids were higher than anticipated.

Clifford Breakwell reporting for the building and grounds committee and as financial secretary, stated that inasmuch as the additions were approved money must be allocated for partial rentals. Due to this condition money will not be available for projects on which bids have already been requested. The recording secretary, Kuhn, was instructed to return certified checks to various bidders and inform them that the projects have been tabled temporarily due to the new building program.

Members Attend

President Blandon Bulger conducted the session, which was attended by all members of the Belle Vernon and North Belle Vernon boards, George Hancock, Bernard Sarra and James Hamer, Fayette City; John Kasuda, Richard Hamer, Stanley Koslosky and Bulger, Washington Twp.

Supervising Principal Robert VanBremen, Elementary Supervisor Joseph Brisbane and Solicitor John Costello attended.

The complete insurance program for the School District property was approved at $1,740,000 and is divided among Monessen Realty Co., Thompson and Githens, Glen Anderson, Gladys Miller, J. Y. Wilkinson and William Vizza. The Belle Vernon Board designated Thompson and Githens as compensation insurance brokers.

The integration of Social Security and teacher's retirement, and its effect on the Joint Board was explained by Breakwell. VanBremen reported on a meeting held in August at South Greensburg to discuss this program.

Bulger suspended the order of business to hear from Mrs. Frank Jacobs and Mr. Scott of Allenport, who asked if the Bellmarette School District could take care of Allenport's secondary students in case a suitable agreement is not worked out with Charleroi. The board stated that this could possibly be arranged and it would be willing to discuss the problem further if the time came.

The administrative committee had no report. VanBremen reported for the transportation committee stating that according to a new law school buses may be used to supply student transportation other than to and from school.

Richard Hamer, reporting for the athletic and activities committee, announced that the two week football training period for the high school squad at Marion Junior High cost $406.70.

Teacher Is Hired

The supplies and equipment committee reported that proper bond was supplied by B and C. Coal Co., and this firm will supply coal for the current term.

The personnel committee reported the resignation of Mrs. Martha Baron, guidance teacher. This was accepted 60 days from the date submitted unless a suitable replacement is found before that time. The board elected Mrs. LaVerne Bazilwich Richey as a teacher of English and social studies in the High School. The application of Nancy Sethman was received and filed. It was for elementary teaching. Washington Twp. Board, John Stump was employed as Marion Junior High custodian.

Brisbane reported on the elementary program and announced that workshops will be held for the teachers. He reported that two local elementary students are attending special education classes in Monessen and one in Webster.

VanBremen reported on the Eastern Mon Valley Junior High football schedule. He also announced the total school enrollment at 2323 students. This includes: Bellmar High, 414; Vernon Junior High, 200; Marion Junior High, 277; Belle Vernon grade, 251; Fairhope, 133; North Belle Vernon, 297; Marion grade, 488 and Fayette City 263.

He also reported special teacher assignments for the year. Ruth Frost will direct the senior and Thespian plays. Mrs. Hazel Hixenbaugh and Miss Dorothy Gorio will be senior class sponsors, and Mrs Stimmell and Tom Healy will be junior sponsors. Mrs. Biconich will be in charge of the yearbook and Francis Mizakar, school paper. Bap Manzini will be faculty manager and Mrs. Richey and Mrs. Stella Blacka, sophomore sponsors.

A list of substitute teachers and the school calendar was submitted and approved.

Uniforms Sold

It was reported that the discarded band uniforms were sold through Director Ernest Dolfi's efforts. Librarian Mrs. Mary Steele was granted permission to attend a conference in October. Teacher's Institute was announced for Sept. 26 and 27 in Uniontown with workshops the second day.

The new speech correctionist, Mrs. Joan Coatsworth, has 49 students enrolled for her course.

The insurance program for junior high athletes was approved as in previous years. VanBremen announced that tickets would be sold in the schools for a Pennsylvania Railroad excursion to Altoona of which Joseph Ferrari is in charge.

Upon recommendation of the also announced other disciplinary measures were successfully put into use after the first few days of Several resident affidavits were approved. VanBremen reported that students were prohibited from driving cars to school as a disciplinary and safety measure. He school. Breakwell gave a financial statement and necessary bills were ordered paid.

The next meeting was changed to Wednesday, Oct. 9, due to the Fayette County School Director convention and the local Lions Band Festival set for Oct. 8.

The first blue jean overalls were made in the United States about 1880.

Protein Needed In Every Day Beauty Diet

Some beauty standards have been revised in this modern day. While a certain number of curves are appreciated, it is no longer considered necessary to have these overly padded. At one time, "a fine figure" — of either a man or a woman — meant something quite different from what it does today.

It is highly important that meals contain just as much protein when calories are reduced. The natural sources of protein are meat, fish, eggs, cheese and milk. Cereal foods also contribute protein, but this in not of such high quality as that contributed by animal foods.

If bread and other cereals are eaten with protein foods, better nutrition results. Certain breads are now being supplemented with extra protein from milk solids, and with certain vitamins and minerals that will provide an inexpensive source of these essentials. Just recently, a bread contributing about twice the nutrients of the standard loaf was introduced in one city.

It will probably be distributed in other cities before long. It will satisfy appetites as well as nutrient need better than sweets and fats, which give very little more than caloric value.

The grilled tomato sandwich, for which the recipe is given today, is a popular lunch.

GRILLED TOMATO SANDWICHES
By MARY O'NEAL

Spread slices of bread with mayonnaise. Arrange on 1 slice peeled slices of tomato. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover with remaining slice, and spread top slice with butter. Saute on one side until lightly browned. Turn over, press slices together with spatula, and continue sauteing until slice is slightly browned.

THE SCHROEDER SANDWICH—
By MR. ROLF SMERLING,
Hotel Schroeder, Milwaukee, Wis.

4 slices rye bread, whole-wheat bread or pumpernickel, toasted
Butter or margarine
¼ cup butter
1 clove garlic, minced
4 beef tenderloin tips, 1-inch thick (4 ounces each)
Salt and pepper
½ cup sweet red wine
3 ounces blue cheese, crumbled

Spread toast with butter or margarine. Melt butter in large, heavy skillet. Add garlic. Cut horizontally almost through tenderloins and then open them, butterfly fashion. Flatten tenderloins and put into skillet. Season with salt and pepper. Cook until browned on both sides. Add wine and allow to simmer about 1 minute. Place each tenderloin on buttered toast and pour juice over meat. Sprinkle about 1½ tablespoons blue cheese over each tenderloin. Place sandwiches under broiler until cheese is melted. Serve hot with French fries, cole slaw and dill pickles. Yield: 4 sandwiches.

YOUR FOOD PROBLEM

By Edith M. Barber

A TART DRESSING OF LEMON JUICE and pepper and heaps of sauteed mushrooms lift Brussels sprouts, those miniature cabbages, into epicurean realms.

Salads Use Many Ingredients

A tossed green salad! That is certainly a general term. The ingredients change with the seasons and with individual taste. One salad green or several will surely be used, and some type of French dressing — maybe merely that good mixture of fine olive oil and an herb vinegar, or a bland oil that will need plenty of other seasoning.

At this time of year one likes to use crisp sliced cucumbers, chilled tomato wedges, and perhaps other additions that give individuality. One of the most interesting salads is a real production. Besides the assortment of greens and vegetables, there were sliced hard-cooked eggs, slivers of Swiss and American cheese, and a liberal amount of cottage cheese. No one could resist a second helping. The dressing was mixed in a blender, which caused it to become and remain thick.

They also indulged in seconds of creamed potatoes with large portions of sirloin strip steaks grilled over the coals. These cuts of steak are an excellent choice when tastes call for rare, medium or well-done meat. Thus everyone is satisfied.

SALAD FOR FIFTEEN

Tomato wedges
Cucumber slices
Celery
Slivers of Swiss cheese
Slivers of American cheese
Cottage cheese
Sliced hard-cooked eggs
Sweet onion slices
1½ cups French dressing
Lettuce
Escarole

Place ingredients except dressing and greens in large salad bowl. Add dressing and toss well. Break greens into pieces and add.

CREAMY DRESSING

2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon paprika
½ cup vinegar
1-3 cup light cream
1½ cups salad oil

Combine ingredients and mix in blender or shake in covered jar. Yield: about 2 1-3 cups.

Brussels Sprouts Varied By Preparation Methods

By EDITH M. BARBER

Have you ever wondered why those small members of the cabbage family were given such a long title? Why are they called Brussels Sprouts? This mystery was solved for me some time ago on a journey from Amsterdam to Paris.

All though Belgium there were fields and fields of low shrubs. These had heavy stalks from which grew branches literally loaded with the delicate green sprouts. These were served to us at restaurants with various dressings, butter, cream, sour cream or, at one special place, a sort of thin Hollandaise sauce. This was much like the sauce recipe to which I have given the name "Michael" — in honor of my mother's family.

Edith Barber

Mushroom butter is another interesting dressing for Brussels sprouts. It is particularly good if a little lemon juice is chosen as a flavoring.

In preparing sprouts, soak them in salted water before cooking. This will persuade any small insects which may have attempted to dine on them to leave them for us to enjoy. After draining, only a small amount of water should be used for cooking. This is in the interest both of flavor and of preserving the natural form, that of a miniature cabbage.

BRUSSELS SPROUTS WITH SAUTEED MUSHROOMS

1 quart basket (1½ pounds) Brussels Sprouts
¼ pound fresh mushrooms
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon pepper

Wash Brussels sprouts and trim. Soak in salted water for 20 minutes. Rinse and place in saucepan in 1-inch boiling water and 1 teaspoon salt. Cover and cook about 5 minutes. Drain, if necessary. Wash and slice mushrooms, and saute in butter or margarine about 2 minutes. Add to Brussels sprouts with lemon juice and pepper. Yield: 6 servings.

VARIATION

After Brussels sprouts are cooked, dress with cream and plenty of paprika.

Vichyssoise Can Be Made In Home Recipe

People believe that the popular soup known as Vichyssoise originated in France. Of course, Vichy is a noted French spa, famous for bubbling table water. This soup is seldom served in France and there is no description of it in "Classical Recipes of the World."

There is a mention of carrots Vichy, described as being cooked in Vichy water and sprinkled with Vichy salt! Also, there is a puree of red carrots combined with cream.

In the usual Vichyssoise potatoes are always the base. Leeks or sweet onions are cooked with the potatoes and chicken stock. When the potatoes are tender, the vegetables are pureed and combined with the liquid in which they cooked and with cream.

If one does not happen to have homemade chicken stock on hand when preparing this soup, a can of consomme or chicken bouillon cubes thoroughly dissolved will go. Generally use onion rather than leeks, as these are not always to be found on the market. A very good Vichyssoise can be made a thome.

Twins Confuse

GREAT LAKES, Ill. (UP)—Naval Training Center dispensary officials often have to convince patients they aren't seeing double, in addition to their other ailments. They explained that it's not double vision; it's just that two of the staff doctors are twins.

Variation in Eggs Benedict

"Eggs Benedict" are popular for lunch or for Sunday supper. A variation of the recipe may be made if Friday is a meatless day with family or with guests.

The foundation is the same, toasted split English muffins, but each muffin half is covered with a slice of Swiss cheese. Other slices are cut into very small bits and added to sauce hollandaise after the sauce has been removed from the hot water over which it has been stirred. Crisp bacon may be used as a garnish.

Another Benedict recipe calls for grilled sardines to replace the sliced cheese, and for the omission of the cheese in the sauce to which additional lemon juice may be added, for a more definite flavor. Wedges of lemon may serve as a garnish, and the juice from these may be squeezed over the sardines.

English muffins are useful in the preparation of an easy and quick recipe for individual pizzas. These call for tomato sauce and sliced cheese. Anchovy fillets may alternate with the cheese. Either Swiss or the Italian Mozzarella may be chosen.

SWISS CHEESE BENEDICT

1 package (6 ounce) Swiss cheese
1-3 cup butter
3 egg yolks
⅛ teaspoon salt
Dash of cayenne
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1-3 cup boiling water
2 split English muffins, toasted
4 poached eggs

Cut 4 slices of cheese in half, crosswise. Chop remaining cheese very fine. Melt butter in top of double boiler and remove from heat. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating with rotary beater until well blended. Add salt, dash of cayenne and lemon juice. Add boiling water slowly. Place over hot, not boiling, water for about 8 minutes, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove from heat and add minced cheese. Place slices of cheese on English muffin halves. Arrange poached egg and a slice of crisp bacon on each. Cover with sauce and garnish with parsley. Yield: 4 servings.

Army Recruit Spends First Day On Actual Rifle Firing Range

(This is the third in a series of letters written by Alfred P. Klimcke, a Monessen youth who recently started a six-months training program under the Reserve Forces Act. He is relating some of the experiences which recruits undergo.)

By ALFRED P. KLIMCKE

FORT KNOX, Ky. — (Special to The Daily Independent) — The third week of our basic training here, though shorter than the first two because of the Labor Day week end, turned out to be easily the most trying.

The long week end came to an abrupt end at 5:30 a.m. Tuesday. That's when we got up.

The morning was spent in drilling, listening in to lectures on the code of conduct determined by the Geneva conference and getting ready for an inspection at 1 p.m.

The barracks were cleaned, our boots and brass polished and our rifles cleaned and oiled. As it turned out, the rifles and our persons were the only things inspected, with somewhat disastrous results!

After our first squad had undergone the inspection, the commanding officer ordered us back into the barracks to "clean those filthy weapons right!"

We did so, or at least we thought so. At 3 p.m. we stood another inspection which resulted in our being told we would be confined to our quarters for the following week end unless we "shaped up."

Wednesday was taken up mainly with a long, dull session on the rifle instruction range. Lecturers were intermingled with practice periods in which we squirmed about on the sand-covered firing line in highly uncomfortable positions.

Then early Thursday morning at 4:20 a.m., we fell out for a four-mile march to the "thousand inch" firing range for our first crack at actually firing the M1 rifle.

During this march, which took approximately an hour and a half, we received our official introduction to "Misery Hill", a hill leading to the rifle range. However, this time we were marching downhill and it wasn't so bad.

At 6:45 we arrived at the range and were again briefed on range procedure. It is amazing how many precautions are taken on the range to insure the safety of those firing, coaches and others involved.

The "thousand-inch" range is, just as its name implies, 1000 inches, or approximately 27 yards from the firing line to the targets, the bulls eye of which is one inch in diameter. It is designed to acquaint the recruits with the operation of the weapon with live ammunition.

By the end of the day, each of the 225 men in our company had fired 77 rounds of ammunition at the elusive little discs. Before leaving the range, we policed the area, picking up every one of the empty shells which had been fired.

We became better acquainted with "Misery Hill" on the return hike, having to march up this time. At the end of the hike we had lost only one man, a case of heat cramps. It was in the low 90s.

Most of the company was sound asleep well before the order for "lights out" at 9:30.

Saturday brought with it another surprise. We were informed that we had to make up for the time we had had off on Monday. We would work all afternoon instead of being finished at noon.

The morning and most of the afternoon were spent back at the preliminary range in a session designed to correct the mistakes we had made on the firing range the day before. And, they had been many as evidenced by our scorecards.

The trip back to our company area was accomplished in record time, since we "double timed" nearly the entire route.

Back at the area we engaged in more drill and cleaning and polishing until 4 p. m. when we were excused for the week end.

Evidently we had "shaped up" a bit, because we were happy to find the week end restriction had been lifted.

Now, we had three down, and six to go.

CAB Looking Over Plans for New Air Service

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board today studied arguments for five applications by Allegheny Airlines to provide stepped-up service in seven eastern states and the District of Columbia.

The firm seeks permission to fly non-stop between Pittsburgh and Louisville, Ky., and to have "skip stop" authority for Pittsburgh-Louisville service via Wheeling, W.Va., Marietta, Ohio, Parkersburg and Huntington, W.Va.

Allegheny Airlines also has requested permission to fly between Pittsburgh and Buffalo, N.Y., without stop restrictions and fly the route with a stop at Erie if Capital Airlines service to Erie is suspended.

In addition, the firm seeks to furnish non-stop service between Pittsburgh and Baltimore and Washington.

Also asked was permission for service to Cleveland, Toledo and Detroit from Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Johnstown and Altoona through Pittsburgh, and full "skip stop" service between Pittsburgh and Detroit.

Allegheny President Leslie O. Barnes appeared before the CAB Monday in support of the applications.

Passenger Penalty

WASHINGTON (UP)—Scheduled airlines are preparing to take a new step in their campaign against "no-show" passengers who fail to cancel their reservations when their travel plans change. Effective Sunday, Sept. 15, "no-shows" will have to pay a three-dollar penalty.

Used to Waiting

GLENCOE, Ill. (UP) — Village Manager Robert B. Morris said there is no hurry about holding formal dedication of the new, $975,000 village hall, opened for use last week. Morris said the village was used to waiting—land for the building was purchased in 1917.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. Anna Yanachik, who died seven years ago today, September 12, 1950.
Today our hearts are heavy,
Our thoughts are all of thee.
Oh, How we miss you, mother, dear.
No one but God can see.
Some say time heals an aching heart,
But, no, it isn't true.
For seven long years have passed, dear mother,
And our hearts still ache for you.
Sadly missed by Husband, Daughters, Sons and Grandchildren.

Rich Girl Likes Working Life

LONDON (UP) — Sandra Ferry Rockefeller, daughter of John D Rockefeller III, said today she'd rather live the life of a working girl than a rich girl.

"A rich girl's life is so boring and artificial," she said after the London Daily Mail newspaper discovered her living in a working girls' hotel in London.

Miss Rockefeller, daughter of one of the world's richest men, has been on a hiking holiday in Britain. She has been walking with a rucksack slung on her back and staying in bed and breakfast youth hostels charging 70 cents per night.

"It was great," she said.

Housewives Are Buying More Items at Today's Supermarket

(President Eisenhower has urged Americans to spend money more carefully in order to help combat inflation. The following dispatch reports on the prospects for less spending in the grocery store, which is where Americans spend most of their money.)

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UP) — About the only way housewives can cut down on food buying is to have supermarkets fold their shopping carts and go away.

The ladies aren't volunteering to buy less. If anything, they're buying more. And they'll give you an argument if you try to pin the "luxury spender" tag on them.

Last year, retail grocery sales totalled $831 per family, or about 25 cents out of each take-home dollar. Our 23,000 supermarkets grossed 23 billion dollars of the nation's 39 billion dollar retail grocery business. This year, we're spending at a 41 billion dollar clip and supermarkets again look for the lion's share of the business.

Buy less in supermarkets? It's possible, but highly improbable.

The basis of the supermarket leads to more spending. The idea is to get the customer to touch the merchandise. When stores changed from clerk service to self-service in the 1930's, this salesman's dream was fulfilled.

In 1936, supermarkets carried about 800 items. Today, they handle about 6,000 items. By 1960, experts believe, they'll stock 15,000 items, mostly non-food.

Non-Food Items

Non-food items now take up about half the supermarket selling area and they sell quickly to a captive audience. The average woman shopper visits the supermarket 18 times a month, far more often than she goes to department, variety or drug stores. When she buys a non-food item in the supermarket, the lady shopper feels she is saving time. And time is important to her. Surveys show the average shopper buys from 13 to 19 items at a time and spends 17 to 20 minutes doing it. The average supermarket trip costs just over $5.

Supermarkets do all they can to encourage unplanned, or impulse, spending. The shopper is confronted by "dump displays" of attractively packaged and attractively priced merchandise in the aisles, where they are hard to miss.

Surveys reveal eight out of 10 women make unplanned purchases. However, impulse buying is not necessarily a dirty word. In many cases, women make an unplanned purchase because it is something they can use and they find it on sale.

Other factors that lead to unplanned buying involve the physical set-up of the supermarket: The bright lights, bright colors, lovely music, holiday atmosphere and the ever-present "free gift" offers. Behind the scenes, men are at work on new ways to melt away consumer resistance by means of more attractive packages and more persuasive advertising.

Watch for Signs of Trouble

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

You can't see through your child's eyes. Furthermore, you can't except him to complain about any visual difficulties that might be developing. How, then, can you determine whether he has eye troubl ?

Making sure that he has periodic examinations by an eye specialist, is the best way, of course All children should have eye exams before they enter school.

But there are other ways of finding trouble, too.

There are many, many signals which might mean your child is having some sort of visual difficulty. Recognize these signs and get prompt professional help for him and you'll help protect his reading ability and his school grades.

A child who has trouble with his eyes might;

Hold books too far away or too close to the face when reading — the ideal distance is about 18 inches; make frequent changes in distance at which the book is being held; have difficulty in reading, spelling, arithmetic, sewing, knitting or other work requiring close use of the eyes; confuse the letters o and a, e and c, n and m, h and n, and r, f and t in reading and spelling.

He may be inattentive during reading periods or blackboard work; have poor alignment in written work; slip or reread lines; lose the place when reading, read slowly or aloud; use finger as a marker or pointer; shut or cover one eye when reading; can't remember what he has read.

He may also become irritable when attempting to do close work; blink continually; stop reading after a brief period; tend to reverse words or syllables; tend to look cross-eyed; frown a great deal; tilt the head to one side; thrust his head forward when looking at near or distant objects; develop other peculiar postural habits.

He may have no desire to participate in games requiring distance vision of visual accuracy in handling balls.' Maybe he will withdraw from group activities, become unfriendly and have a general lack of interest.

And perhaps he'll have recurring headaches or tired eyes, especially at the end of the school day or in the evening.

Any or all of these things might be found in a youngster with eye trouble.

Is it any wonder then that his school work is apt to suffer, that he is likely to become unsociable — and that he might eventually wind up a delinquent — unless his visual difficulty is corrected?

In Hollywood—

King of Slum Kid Actors Moving Up

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Huntz Hall, pickle-nosed perennial Bowery boy, moves up in class next month when he appears as a crooner with Debbie Reynolds on Eddie Fisher's television show.

"I'll be up with the carriage trade," says Huntz proudly.

"This is a real step up the social ladder for me. I'm not knocking the Bowery boys, but I want to spread myself around a little."

The gangling, adenoidal Hall is king of slum kid actors. In the past 20 years he has made a fortune slobbering his way through 99 B-minus pictures.

"I've played three different characters, though," he said defensively.

"In the 25 'Dead End Kid' pictures I was 'Dippy.' Then the series was switched to 'The Eastside Kids.' And in 26 of them I was 'Glimpy.' Now we've made 48 Bowery boy pitchas and I'm 'Sach' in them."

Though he's 36 years old, stringly-haired Huntz still plays a juvenile delinquent in his late teens or early 20s. But his patience with playing a half-witted hustler has paid off. After 20 years he has finally reached stardom—number one Bowery boy.

He was just one of the gang up until a year or so ago when bulldog-faced Leo Gorcey quit the Bowery boys clan. Now Huntz heads the billing.

"When we started out on Broadway in 'Dead End' in 1935 there were six of us," Huntz recalled "The leader was Billy Halop Pretty soon he's going to start a TV series with his sister Florence

"Bobby Jordan, he played the kid with the long hair named 'Angel,' owns a piece of a bar out here and is playing character parts in movies. Gabe Dell played the kid with TB. He works in New York now on the Steve Allen show. Bernard Punsly — the one who played the fat kid—is a doctor.

"And Leo—he played 'Spit'—is selling real estate here in Hollywood. Leo was the 'star' of the series until he quit.

"Now I'm the only one of the original cast left," Hall said with pride, wiping the back of his hand across his nose.

Pope Calls for Censorship of Radio, Television

VATICAN CITY (UP)—Pope Pius XII today called for social and moral censorship of radio, movies and television.

In the 22nd encyclical letter of his 18-year reign as spiritual leader of the Roman Catholic church, the Pontiff warned of the grave dangers which "can best Christian faith and morals if the powerful inventions of motion pictures, radio and television are perverted by men to evil uses."

In the encyclical letter, called "Miranda Prorsus" (remarkable technical inventions), and signed by the Pope on Sept. 8, the Pontiff said that unless "set laws" and "moral safeguards" are applied to the movies, radio and television, "they will restrict the people's true development and weaken their morals."

He called upon both industry and the state to cooperate with the church to help "these new arts make their proper and natural contribution to the right fashioning of minds."

World of Television—

TV Loses Battle To Films

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — Television seems to be headed the way of the tuna fish—you can't hardly get it no more except in cans.

Like TV has lost the battle this season to filmed TV—about 60 per cent of our network prime time shows are being shot on celluloid and preserved in tins. What's more, most citizens of the TV industry seem to feel the trend can't be stopped — that filmed fare means not only better shows technically, but more profits since the film can be shown over and over.

William Ewald

At least two producers, however, believe the trend is going to be reversed. Jesse Zousmer and John Aaron, who turn out Ed Murrow's "Person To Person," think that TV's future lies in live programming.

What Is TV?

"The trouble is that many people in the industry haven't even tried to think through the most fundamental question — What is TV all about?" said Zousmer today. "It isn't movies. Movies are another medium. And showing a movie on TV doesn't change the fact it's a movie and not TV.

"If you look at your top 10 month after month, you'll find that live shows are the most popular—'What's My Line,' 'Ed Sullivan' and 'The $64,000 Question' and '$64,000 Challenge.' 'I Love Lucy' is about the only steady exception. Why? Because people like live TV. They like the feeling of seeing something happening in front of them.

"The most exciting moments in TV have all come from live shows—the Kefauver hearings, 'Peter Pan,' the political conventions. Do you remember the excitement when Jackie Gleason broke his leg on TV? It had an impact on people because they saw it happening right in front of them."

Lots Of Fluffs

"Person To Person," which starts its fifth season on CBS-TV Friday, is a striking example of the stir live TV can generate, pointed out Aaron.

"We've had more fluffs on our show than we can count," said Aaron. "We had Eva Gabor stuck in a door for 40 seconds and Ed Sullivan's dog barking through a show. Bert Lahr backed into a closet, and on one show we picked up police calls by mistake on our lines.

"Mrs. Harry Truman made a remark about a dirty ashtray one of our crew had left. And remember the night Mrs. Pat Weaver's dress came opened in the back by mistake? It was terribly unfortunate and I'm sure we felt worse about it than she did, but it sure stirred up talk.

"People would resent these kind of fluffs on a filmed show—they'd call them sloppy editing. But on live TV, they love it."

Zousmer and Aaron are so convinced of TV's future as a live medium, that they're whipping up another live show. "We feel what we've done with people on 'Person To Person' we can do with places," said Zousmer. "'Wide Wide World' has tried it, but not too successfully because the show never really gives you the feeling of standing there. You always fell you're looking on from outside.

A million sheets of gold leaf will make a stack only four inches high.
